comparative politics development studies and security studies Twenty-First Century Jihad Elisabeth Kendall, Ewan Stein, 2015-06-04 The term jihad has come to be used as a byword for fanaticism and Islam's allegedly implacable hostility towards the West. But like other religious and political concepts, jihad has multiple resonances and associations, its meaning shifting over time and from place to place. Jihad has referred to movements of internal reform, spiritual struggle and self-defence as much as to holy war. And among Muslim intellectuals, the meaning and significance of jihad remain subject to debate and controversy. With this in mind, Twenty-First Century Jihad examines the ways in which the concept of jihad has changed from its roots in the Quran to its usage in current debate. This book explores familiar, modern political angles and touches on far less commonly analysed instances of jihad, incorporating issues of law, society, literature and military action. As this key concept is ever more important for international politics and security studies, Twenty-First Century Jihad contains vital analysis for those researching the role of religion in the modern world. Education, Inclusion, Pluralism and United Nations Sustainable Development Goals Sher Rahmat Khan, 2024-12-23 This book offers a compelling analysis of education's promise to achieve inclusive, pluralistic and sustainable societies. These globally shared challenges are examined through a detailed analysis of the cultural politics of education in postcolonial Pakistan. The analysis provides a window into the ways that the intergenerational traumas of colonialism, neocolonialism, globalisation and forms of extremism continue to present significant challenges for postcolonial Pakistan. Drawing on postcolonial theories and curriculum theory, the author develops a critical discourse analysis of the cultural politics that shapes education in Pakistan. The analysis identifies key elements of this cultural politics, such as religious and cultural dynamics, geopolitical challenges, the need to promote unity and cohesion, employing history for nation building and gender relations, and the ways in which these elements intersect to shape the possibilities of delivering on the promise of inclusion, pluralism and sustainable development. The Legislative Assembly Debates India. Karachi in the Twenty-First Century Mansoor Bin Tahnoon Al Nehayan, 2016-02-22 The forces of globalisation are indiscriminate: they enable those who pursue good and those who pursue evil. The changes brought about by globalisation affect all segments of society, all walks of life, all political parties, all religions, all ethnic groups and all countries. Sometimes they occur in the most unexpected ways and yield complex results that appear to be mystifying and intractable, at least on the surface. This book describes how the forces of globalisation have descended upon Karachi and exacerbated local and regional problems to the point where the city is teetering on the brink of chaos. Karachi is geographically, politically and culturally situated in the context of modern Pakistan but is a global city affected by global forces, many of which challenge the state's power and authority. The lessons of Karachi are important for both its present and its future, and they can serve as a cautionary tale for other global cities. Karachi is vitally important to Pakistan. While Islamabad is the country's capital, Karachi is the most important financial centre in the country. It is the centre of banking, industry, economic activity and trade. Many of

Pakistan's largest corporations are based in Karachi including entertainment arts fashion medical research the automotive industry shipping textiles advertising publishing and software development Karachi is also home to Pakistan's main seaport and two of the largest ports in the region the Port of Karachi and Port Bin Qasim
