information on nearly 100 road safety indicators together with information on the evolution of those indicators since 2010 the baseline year for the 2011-2020 Decade for Action. Due to the extension and graphic richness of the profiles the 5 MB version of the report shows not very good quality images and the links for references do not work. We upload a 9.4 MB after having explained the situation in the Public online Clinic.

Minicars, Maglevs, and Mopeds Selima Sultana, Joe Weber, 2016-04-18. This book provides a fascinating look at the amazing diversity of forms of travel and transport around the world today in the context of cultures, politics, economics, and environment of a place. Across the timeline of human history, transportation has played a role in the migration of people and information, nation building, economic development, environmental alteration, access to and the use of resources, and even the fall of civilizations. This single volume reference presents more than 150 entries that describe the most up-to-date surface transport technologies and routes in use on every continent, including a broad range of road vehicles, railroads, person-powered vehicles, and even animals used for transportation. The book melds transportation geography with culture, politics, economics, and environment of place in its coverage of vehicles, transportation technologies, and some of the most famous streets, rail systems, and highways from around the world. The entries are written by transport geography scholars to be accessible to general readers without technical backgrounds. Each entry incorporates cross-references that allow readers to easily find related entries, making the book ideal for conducting specific research or completing school projects.

United States. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 1978.

Global Status Report on Road Safety 2018 World Health Organization, 2019-01-10. The Global status report on road safety 2018, launched by WHO in December 2018, highlights that the number of annual road traffic deaths has reached 1.35 million. Road traffic injuries are now the leading killer of people aged 5-29 years. The burden is disproportionately borne by pedestrians, cyclists, and motorcyclists, in particular those living in developing countries. The report suggests that the price paid for mobility is too high, especially because proven measures exist. Drastic action is needed to put these measures in place to meet any future global target that might be set and save lives.

Technical Reports of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration United States. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 1978.

World Report on Road Traffic Injury Prevention M. M. Peden, World Health Organization, 2004-03-23. Every day, thousands of people are killed and injured on roads around the world, with the costs of this growing but largely preventable public health concern disproportionately affecting vulnerable social groups and developing countries. In order to address these issues, the World Health Organization and the World Bank have produced this joint report on road traffic injury prevention based on the collaborative contributions of experts and institutions from all continents and different sectors, including transport, engineering, health, police, education, and civil society. It presents a comprehensive overview of the magnitude, risk factors, and impact of road traffic injuries and about ways to prevent and lessen the impact of road crashes.

Global Status Report on Road Safety 2015 World Health Organization, 2015-12-17.

The Global status report on road safety 2015 reflecting information from 180 countries indicates that worldwide the total number of road traffic deaths has plateaued at 1.25 million per year with the highest road traffic fatality rates in low income countries. In the last three years 17 countries have aligned at least one of their laws with best practice on seat belts, drink driving, speed, motorcycle helmets or child restraints. While there has been progress towards improving road safety legislation and in making vehicles safer, the report shows that the pace of change is too slow. Urgent action is needed to achieve the ambitious target for road safety reflected in the newly adopted 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development: halving the global number of deaths and injuries from road traffic crashes by 2020. Made possible through funding from Bloomberg Philanthropies, this report is the third in the series and provides a snapshot of the road safety situation globally, highlighting the gaps and the measures needed to best drive progress.
