Nepal is the 2nd richest country in water resource in the world, possessing about 2.27% of the world water resource (CBS 1999). Despite this fact planned water supply was stated only in the fourth plan (1970-1975). The national coverage of water supply system was only about 4% in 1970. A separate institution, the Department of Drinking Water Supply and Sewerage (DWSS) was established during that period. By the end of water supply and sanitation decade (1990), the coverage substantially increased to 36% of the total population, with the rural population and urban population at 33% and 67% respectively. The recent Between Census Households Information, Monitoring and Evaluation System (BCHIMES) report-2000 indicates water coverage at 78% for rural and 92.3% for the urban population (Shrestha, 2003).

Sanitation facility is very poor condition having only 29% national coverage and issue on water quality has not been given proper attention (Shrestha et.al, 2203). Rural communities continue to use the most convenient source of water irrespective of quality. Regular outbreaks of water borne epidemics and increasing number of patients being admitted to hospitals due to water related diseases indicates that only supplying of drinking water is not sufficient to improve public health status unless continued effort is made both on water supply and sanitation.

Nepal water resources are considerable with surface run-off in the order of 200 km³ annually. In general, there is very little rainfall from November to January. In addition to surface water, Nepal's ground water resources are also extensive.

In Nepal, the guideline value for national drinking water quality standard has been suggested by Pyakural (1994) and Task Force (1995)

Environmental Education is an essential subject in the contemporary world especially given the alarming challenges that our planet faces due to environmental degradation resource depletion and climate change As the world s ecosystems are under unprecedented pressure from human activity it has become imperative that future generations are not only aware of these issues but are equipped with the knowledge and skills to tackle them The course Environmental Education offered under the Gauhati University Four Year Undergraduate Programme FYUGP aims to do precisely this to educate students on the relationship between humans and the environment the importance of environmental conservation and the urgent need for sustainable development This book Environmental Education is designed to serve as a comprehensive guide for students enrolled in the 5th semester of the Education course It delves into the fundamental concepts challenges and practices related to the environment with a particular emphasis on raising awareness about environmental hazards and promoting conservation efforts By the end of this course students will not only understand the crucial importance of the environment in human life but will also be equipped with the strategies to address the pressing environmental issues that threaten our planet Throughout this book I have made an effort to cover the major facets of Environmental Education which include a clear definition of environment the relationship between humans and the environment and human impact on ecological systems The book also explores significant environmental movements and projects such as the Chipko Movement the Silent Valley Project and the Narmada Valley Project illustrating how communities and governments have responded to environmental challenges The book further engages with environmental ethics and sustainable development encouraging students to reflect on the moral aspects of environmental protection and consider the long term impacts of their actions on future generations Environmental Education is not merely a subject to be studied it is a call to action The information presented here aims to guide students in critically assessing the current state of the environment and to provide them with the knowledge required to make informed decisions that can benefit both society and the planet As they examine environmental hazards and pollution students are encouraged to reflect on the roles they can play in mitigating environmental degradation and promoting sustainability in their communities and beyond Incorporating the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs into the curriculum this book highlights the significance of goals such as Goal 7 Affordable and clean energy Goal 12 Responsible consumption and production and Goal 13 Climate action By integrating these global targets the book empowers students to think critically about their contributions to achieving a sustainable future The relevance of this course is not limited to academic success alone It is a crucial step in preparing students to become responsible global citizens who can contribute meaningfully to environmental stewardship As environmental concerns continue to shape policies economies and societies worldwide it is vital that young minds are engaged and equipped with the knowledge to confront these challenges with intelligence compassion and creativity In closing I hope that this book will serve as a valuable resource for students pursuing Environmental Education providing them with not just theoretical knowledge but also a practical understanding of the critical environmental issues we face today Together we can inspire a generation of thinkers and activists who are committed to protecting our planet for future generations Khritish Swargiary May 2025
