

Students identify commonalities among objects or situations to make and test generalizations.

Problem Solving: Make and Test Generalizations

11-8

A generalization is a statement that makes a conclusion about all of the things in a group. For example, look at these three shapes.

Make a generalization: The shapes are all acute triangles.
Test your generalization. The shape on the left has a right angle.
It is a right triangle. This generalization is not true.

Try another generalization: The shapes are all triangles.
Each of the shapes is a polygon with 3 sides. This generalization is correct.
