Handbook of Research on Teaching in Multicultural and Multilingual Contexts Charamba, Erasmios, 2022-06-24 Several factors have resulted in increased intra and inter state migration This has led to an increase in the enrollment of students with diverse linguistics backgrounds placing more academic demands on educators Linguistic diversity presents both opportunities and challenges for educators across the educational spectrum Language ideologies profoundly shape and constrain the use of language as a resource for learning in multilingual or linguistically diverse classrooms While English has become the world language most communities remain and are becoming more and more multicultural multilingual and diverse The Handbook of Research on Teaching in Multicultural and Multilingual Contexts moves beyond the constraints of current language ideologies and enables the use of a wide range of resources from local semiotic repertoires It examines the phenomenon of language use language teaching multiculturalism and multilingualism in different learning areas giving practitioners a voice to spotlight their efforts in order to keep their teaching afloat in culturally and linguistically diverse situations. Covering topics such as Indigenous languages, multilingual deaf communities and intercultural competence, this major reference work is an essential resource for educators of both K 12 and higher education, pre-service teachers, educational psychologists, linguists, education administrators and policymakers, government officials, researchers and academicians.

The People's Paper Peter Limb, 2012-09-01. This much-awaited volume uncovers the long lost pages of the major African multilingual newspaper Abantu Batho. Founded in 1912 by African National Congress (ANC) convenor Pixley Seme with assistance from the Swazi Queen, it was published up until 1931, attracting the cream of African politicians, journalists and poets. Mqhayi, Nontsisi, Mqgqeth and Grendon. In its pages, burning issues of the day were articulated alongside cultural byways. The People's Paper, comprising both essays and an anthology, explores the complex movements and individuals that emerged in the almost twenty years of its publication. The essays contribute rich new material to provide clearer insights into South African politics and intellectual life. The anthology unveils a judicious selection of never before published columns from the paper, spanning every year of its life and drawn from repositories on three continents. Abantu Batho had a regional and international focus and, by examining all these dynamics across boundaries and disciplines, The People's Paper transcends established historiographical frontiers to fill a lacuna that scholars have long lamented. South African national bibliography, 1999. Classified list with author and title index.

Focus on First Year Success Brenda Leibowitz, Antoinette Van der Merwe, Susan Van Schalkwyk, 2009-11-01. The importance of the first year experience is now well recognised. This collection of papers makes a fascinating and important contribution to our understanding of students' transition to higher education. This is a scholarly, engaging and illuminating text that is relevant not only in the context of South Africa but for anyone interested in student learning in the first year of university education. David Gosling, Plymouth University.

The African Book Publishing Record, 2013. Focus, 2001. African Languages in Classrooms and Academia: Intellectualisation and Empowerment through Formal Education Xolisa Tshongolo, 2024-12-02. To date, there have been few comprehensive books published which deal specifically with the role of African languages in academia and formal education. Motinyane Mletshe and Tshongolo as editors have produced a book that fills this gap. In this timely collection of 21 chapters, written in African languages and English, the contributors offer a critique of both language practice in the classroom as well as language planning, policy creation and implementation challenges. A timely and innovative contribution in the area of language in education, teaching pedagogy as well as multilingualism.

Drum, 2009-04. Drawing for Science Education Phyllis Katz, 2017-03-23. This book argues for the essential use of drawing as a tool for science teaching and learning. The authors are working in schools, universities and continual science learning (CSL) settings around the world. They have written of their experiences using a variety of prompts to encourage people to take pen to paper and draw their thinking, sometimes direct observation and in other instances their memories. The result is a collection of research and essays.

that offer theory techniques outcomes and models for the reader Young children have provided evidence of the perceptions that they have accumulated from families and the media before they reach classrooms Secondary students describe their ideas of chemistry and physics Teacher educators use drawings to consider the progress of their undergraduates understanding of science teaching and even their moral ethical responses to teaching about climate change Museum visitors have drawn their understanding of the physics of how exhibit sounds are transmitted A physician explains how the history of drawing has been a critical tool to medical education and doctor patient communications Each chapter contains samples insights and where applicable analysis techniques The chapters in this book should be helpful to researchers and teachers alike across the teaching and learning continuum The sections are divided by the kinds of activities for which drawing has historically been used in science education An instance of observation Audubon Linnaeus A process how plants grow over time what happens when chemicals combine Conceptions of what science is and who does it Images of identity development in science teaching and learning

Extended Curriculum Programmes Tennyson Mgutshini, 2022-04-30 The introduction of ECPs in South African Universities is seen by many as South Africa's key strategy for addressing the problem of poor patterns of student success and has its basis on the uncontested acceptance that an extended study duration may be necessary to bring some categories of learners to a level of parity with the readiness expectations of their course of study Even so this transformative strategic imperative has been plagued by a range of challenges that include poor systems readiness poor selection mechanisms in the identification of ECP students poor numeracy and literacy amongst students and indifferent teacher involvement in ECPs This volume offers a rare insight into many of the above recognised challenges and in so doing provides critical matter for thought for educators within the higher education sector

Progress, Change and Development in Early Childhood Education and Care Elizabeth Coates, Dorothy Faulkner, 2017-10-02 In 2000 the Millennium Development Goals set out targets aimed at creating a safer more prosperous and more equitable world If these goals were to be achieved children's lives would indeed be transformed In this collection achievements against these targets are identified with each contributor examining the progress made in early years provision in Australia China England Greece the Netherlands Portugal South Africa and Sweden They highlight the priorities and agendas of their respective governments and focus on the trends and issues which are particularly relevant to each situation thereby revealing the social and educational inequalities that persist across countries A common theme running through this volume concerns the political tensions that arise when governments and educators hold fundamentally different views about the nature and purpose of early years education and the needs of children and families It is clear that although the past two decades have seen many changes in attitude towards the importance of the early years of life politically economically and environmentally much still remains to be done if the Millennium Development Goals for young children and their families are to be fully met Despite this this volume demonstrates that those who work in this area continue to experience a deep concern for the well being of young children which transcends cultures frontiers and political and sectarian divides This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Early Years Education Safe Spaces Cornelia Roux,2012-10-26 This book examines the crucial issues affecting Human Rights Education in contexts of culture religious and societal diversity It exhibits an impressive scholarly achievement capturing and combining the insights of both established academics and emerging researchers Each author succeeds in distilling the knowledge of their particular fields of interest as well as conveying the essence of their intuitive understanding and the richness of the context This book considers a variety of connected content and methodological issues in three major sections Philosophical and policy perspectives Gender discourses diverse perspectives and Discourses on narratives as safe spaces The Edition is further strengthened by allowing international reviewers the opportunity of engaging with the contributors in the Introduction and Conclusion an innovative departure from conventional formats and which will provide a global perspective to the readers The focus of the various chapters succeeds in establishing both a foundation and platform for dialogue surrounding human rights and human rights education in modern policy and governance Aptly named Safe Spaces the Edition offers in depth and credible safe nuances spaces in terms of the somewhat reified concept of human rights at a time when human rights remains a highly topical and contested international issue As such the book imparts an immense scope of theoretical and empirical perspectives reflected by the distinguished intellectuals who navigate the terrain of their respective disciplines with profound erudition This book represents a collaborative effort of immeasurable value This exemplary edition is both timeous and will prove timeless Southern African Books in Print ,1994 Preparing Globally Minded Literacy Teachers Jan Lacina,Robin Griffith,2019-11-15 This textbook brings together internationally renowned scholars to provide an overview of print and digital literacy instruction for pre service teachers and teacher educators It examines historical and cultural contexts of literacy practices around the globe and addresses issues that teachers need to consider as they teach children from diverse world cultures languages and backgrounds Organized into three Parts Early Literacy Intermediate to Adolescent Literacy and Case Studies the text highlights key practices around the world to provide literacy educators and students with a broader view of effective practices as well as strategies for overcoming challenges faced by literacy educators worldwide The global case studies present complex issues and allow readers to discuss what it means to be globally minded as well as how to implement best practices in literacy instruction All chapters include consistent elements for ease of use such as vignettes historical and cultural contexts implications for future research and discussion questions Grounded in current research and theory this book is designed for foundational courses in literacy education and literacy methods as well as courses in comparative and multicultural education Environment, Power, and Justice Graeme Wynn,Jane Carruthers,Nancy J. Jacobs,2022-07-26 Spanning the colonial postcolonial and postapartheid eras these historical and locally specific case studies analyze and engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity This book highlights the ways poor and vulnerable people in South Africa Lesotho and Zimbabwe have mobilized against the structural and political forces that deny them a healthy and sustainable environment Spanning the colonial postcolonial and postapartheid eras these studies engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity Some chapters track the genealogies of contemporary activism while others introduce positions actors and thinkers not previously identified with environmental justice Addressing health economic opportunity agricultural policy and food security the chapters in this book explore a range of issues and ways of thinking about harm to people and their ecologies Because environmental justice is often understood as a contemporary phenomenon framed around North American examples these fresh case studies will enrich both southern African history and global environmental studies Environment Power and Justice expands conceptions of environmental justice and reveals discourses and dynamics that advance both scholarship and social change Contributors Christopher Conz Marc Epprecht Mary Galvin Sarah Ives Admire Mseba Muchaparara Musemwa Matthew A Schnurr Cherryl Walker Journal of Psychology in Africa ,2009
