s girl trilogy and to South Korean independent cinema of 2010s directed by women Choi focuses on girls sexuality labor and leisure and demonstrates how girls in contemporary South Korean cinema are increasingly represented to have agency albeit still limited they are subjects who remember the past experience the present and envision the future and whose interiority lies beyond their status as victims of sexual violence and national trauma Choi further critically engages with the girlhood associated with unproductivity and dismissed as mere irreality In contrast she foregrounds how cinema could adequately mourn girls deaths and grant them shelter and idleness as part of what is desperately needed the very girlhood that has long been denied
