David M. Callejo Pérez,Stephen M. Fain,Judith J. Slater,2011-10-21 This book attempts to re imagine the purpose of the doctorate which has historically been used to prepare leaders who will work to improve the sciences social and physical humanities and professions while articulating curriculum as a living shape where students faculty and institution melded in a humanist and creative process This idea seriously eroded by the explosion in doctoral degrees between the early 1970s 20 000 doctorate per year and last year to over 46 000 and an explosion in doctoral and research universities that has created a crossroads for the doctorate in America We believe the value of a doctorate is Intellectual Capital and are particularly interested in encouraging reflection as an important characteristic of a successful quality doctoral program We posit that a good doctoral experience fosters active engagement in reflection on all elements of our work the intellectual advisory and pedagogical work of faculty curricular opportunities as well as the intellectual of the doctoral candidates through an avocation that drives research and theory in our fields Specific issues raised in this edited volume include comprehensive analysis of programs rethinking evaluation and programmatic coherence doctoral degrees beyond the discipline subject and field and implications of individual identity Along with authors chapters we paid attention to encourage reflection as an important characteristic of a quality doctoral program positing that good doctoral experiences foster active engagement in reflection on all elements of the doctoral experience including program and curricular issues personal relationships work and the creation of a community of scholars Reshaping Teaching in Higher Education Rosanna Breen,Angela Brew,Alan Jenkins,Roger Lindsay,2003-12-16 Linking research with teaching is one of the main topics in the educational development world This practice based guide shows how academic research activity can be connected to academic teaching activity to ensure that neither operates in a vacuum and each can be enhanced by the other Addressing issues at the individual course and institutional level and written for an international readership this will be a key book for course leaders and educational developers
