Bonhoeffer's Religionless Christianity in Its Christological Context Peter Hooton, 2020-02-06 The German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer understood Western civilization to be approaching a completely religionless age to which Christians must respond and adapt. This book explores Bonhoeffer's own response to this challenge, his concept of a religionless Christianity and its place in his broader theology. It does this first by situating the concept in a present-day Western socio-historical context. It then considers Bonhoeffer's understanding and critique of religion before examining the religionless Christianity of his final months in the light of his earlier Christ-centred theology. The place of mystery, paradox and wholeness in Bonhoeffer's thinking is also given careful attention and non-religious interpretation is taken seriously as an ongoing task. The book aspires to present religionless Christianity as a lucid and persuasive contemporary theology and does this always in the presence of the question which inspired Bonhoeffer's theological journey from its academic beginnings to its very deliberately lived end: the question 'Who is Jesus Christ?'

The book is a commentary on Hebrews designed for use as textbook for undergraduate and graduate level studies. It works through the text of Hebrews paragraph by paragraph with additional notes on a variety of theological topics along the way. In Hebrews and the Temple Church argued for an eschatological reading of Hebrews and this book applies that reading to the discipline of a commentary. It grows out of postgraduate level lectures on Hebrews delivered at Laidlaw College in Auckland New Zealand, Myanmar Evangelical Graduate School of Theology in Yangon Myanmar, Asia Graduate School of Theology in Kathmandu Nepal and Christian Leaders Training College at Banz Papua New Guinea. Sociological Abstracts Leo P.

The Gospel of Mark Ben Witherington, 2001-01-08. This book offers the first sustained attempt to read the Gospel of Mark both as an ancient biography and as a form of ancient rhetoric. Ben Witherington applies to Mark the socio-rhetorical approach for which he is well known, opening a fresh new perspective on the earliest Gospel. Written when the fledgling Christian faith was experiencing a major crisis during the Jewish war, Mark provides us with the first window on how the life and teachings of Jesus were presented to a largely non-Jewish audience. According to Witherington, the structure of Mark demonstrates that this Gospel is biographically focused on the identity of Jesus and the importance of knowing who he is: the Christ, the Son of God. This finding reveals that Christology stood at the heart of the earliest Christians' faith. It also shows how important it was to these earliest Christians to persuade others about the nature of Jesus, both as a historical figure and as the Savior of the world. Christian Theology; or, a connected view of the Scheme of Christianity, etc James
