many followers of Islam are spread around the globe from traditional lands in the Middle East and parts of Africa to metropolitan European cities. This extremely varied group of people nevertheless shares a distinct and rich style of arts, architecture, poetry, epic literature, painting and philosophy. This book follows the intriguing history of Islamic arts and literature through the ages from the Umayyad Dynasty to the modern Islamic world. Contemporary Art from the Middle East Hamid Keshmirshikan, 2015-02-06. How is home grown contemporary art viewed within the Middle East? And is it understood differently outside the region? What is liable to be lost when contemporary art from the Middle East is transferred to international contexts and how can it be reclaimed? This timely book tackles ongoing questions about how local perspectives on contemporary art from the Middle East are defined and how these perspectives intersect with global art discourses. Inside, leading figures from the Middle Eastern art world, western art historians, art theorists and museum curators discuss the historical and cultural circumstances which have shaped contemporary art from the Middle East, reflecting on recent exhibitions and curatorial projects and revealing how artists have struggled with the label of Middle Eastern Artist. Chapters reflect on the fundamental methodologies of art history and cultural studies, considering how relevant they are when studying contemporary art from the Middle East and investigate the ways in which contemporary so-called global theories impact on the making of art in the region. Drawing on their unique expertise, the book's contributors offer completely new perspectives on the most recent cultural, intellectual and socio-political developments of contemporary art from the Middle East. Modernity and the Museum in the Arabian Peninsula Karen Exell, 2016-03-10. Modernity and the Museum in the Arabian Peninsula is dedicated to the recent and rapid high profile development of museums in the Arabian Peninsula, focusing on a number of the Arabian Peninsula states: Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar and the UAE. These Gulf states are dynamically involved in the establishment of museums to preserve and represent their distinct national culture and heritage as well as engaging in the regional and global art worlds through the construction of state-of-the-art museums. Alongside such developments is a rich world of collection and displaying material culture in homes and private museums that is little known to the outside world. Museum Studies literature has struggled to keep pace with such developments and Modernity and the Museum in the Arabian Peninsula is the first book to coherently present a contemporary overview of the ever-evolving landscape of museums and related heritage projects in the Arabian Peninsula, a critical evaluation of the nature of these museum projects within the political and cultural conditions in the Arabian Peninsula, suggestions for productive ways forward for museum developments in the Arabian Peninsula. Museum Studies students and museum professionals now have a book that fills an important gap in the picture of the museum worldwide. Contextualising this study in the history and politics of the region from a scholar working within the region, this in-depth overview and critical analysis of museums in the Arabian Peninsula stands alone as an entry into this important topic. Turkish Traditional Art Today Henry Glassie, 1993.
