Congress. House. Committee on Science. Subcommittee on Energy,2002 , Meeting the Challenges to Measurement in an Era of Accountability Henry Braun,2016-01-29 Under pressure and support from the federal government states have increasingly turned to indicators based on student test scores to evaluate teachers and schools as well as students themselves The focus thus far has been on test scores in those subject areas where there is a sequence of consecutive tests such as in mathematics or English language arts with a focus on grades 4-8 Teachers in these subject areas however constitute less than thirty percent of the teacher workforce in a district Comparatively little has been written about the measurement of achievement in the other grades and subjects This volume seeks to remedy this imbalance by focusing on the assessment of student achievement in a broad range of grade levels and subject areas with particular attention to their use in the evaluation of teachers and schools in all It addresses traditional end-of-course tests as well as alternative measures such as portfolios exhibitions and student learning objectives In each case issues related to design and development psychometric considerations and validity challenges are covered from both a generic and a content specific perspective The NCME Applications of Educational Measurement and Assessment series includes edited volumes designed to inform research based applications of educational measurement and assessment Edited by leading experts these books are comprehensive and practical resources on the latest developments in the field The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Life Sciences and Radiation Jürgen Kiefer,2011-06-27 Scope and ideas of the workshop The workshop which took place at the University of Giessen from Oct 3 to Oct 7 2002 and whose proceedings are collected in this volume started from the idea to convene a number of scientists with the aim to outline their visions for the future of radiation research on the basis of their expertise As radiation research is a very wide field restrictions were unavoidable It was decided to concentrate this time mainly on molecular and cellular biology because it was felt that here action is particularly needed This did not exclude contributions from neighbouring fields as may be seen from the table of contents It was clearly not planned to have a comprehensive account of the present scientific achievements but the results presented should only serve as a starting point for the discussion of future lines of research with the emphasis on the outreach to other parts of life sciences If you are interested in the future ask the young we attempted therefore to invite mainly younger colleagues with a few exceptions who had however already left their marks in the field They were asked to describe what they felt is important in radiation research and may have significant influences on other branches of life sciences They were given the task to demonstrate what is lost for science if we do no longer exist Issues and

Opportunities Regarding the U.S. Space Program National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board, Space Studies Board, Pamela L. Whitney, Richard B. Leshner, Radford Byerly, Jr., 2004-03-02 Ever since the completion of the Apollo program there has been a lack of consensus about the future of human spaceflight The Columbia tragedy in February 2003 rekindled public debate about this question In November 2003 the Space Studies Board and the Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board organized a workshop to explore aspects of the question what should be the principal purpose goals and priorities of the U S civil space program This report presents a factual summary of that workshop which identified past lessons learned and guiding principles for the future of the civil space program Seven broad themes emerged from the workshop and these themes are highlighted in the report The report also presents discussions of strategies for the human spaceflight program and guiding principles of and boundary conditions for a 21st century space policy Space Station Engineering Design Issues National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Commission on Engineering and Technical Systems, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board, Workshop Committee on Space Station Engineering Design Issues, 1989-01-01 The Space Station Freedom program is the next major U S manned space initiative It has as its objective the establishment of a permanently manned facility in low earth orbit This book summarizes the main findings and recommendations of a workshop that examined the space station program with a view toward identifying critical engineering issues related to the design and operation of the station

Wilson,2023-04 In 1975 workers at Life Science Products a small makeshift pesticide factory in Hopewell Virginia became ill after exposure to Kepone the brand name for the pesticide chlordecone They made the poison under contract for a much larger Hopewell company Allied Chemical Life Science workers had been breathing in the dust for more than a year Ingestion of the chemical made their bodies seize and shake News of ill workers eventually led to the discovery of widespread environmental contamination of the nearby James River and the landscape of the small working class city Not only had Life Science dumped the chemical but so had Allied when the company manufactured it in the 1960s and early 1970s The resulting toxic impact was not only on the city of Hopewell but also on the faraway fields where Kepone was used as an insecticide Aspects of this environmental tragedy are all too common corporate avarice ignorance and regulatory failure combined with race and geography to determine toxicity and shape the response But the Kepone story also contains some surprising medical legal and political moments amid the disaster With Poison Powder Gregory S Wilson explores the conditions that put the Kepone factory and the workers there in the first place and the effects of the poison on the people and natural world long after 1975 Although the manufacture and use of Kepone is now banned by the Environmental Protection Agency organochlorines have long half lives and these toxic compounds and their residues still remain in the environment

New Paradigms in Ergonomics Neville A. Stanton,Paul M. Salmon,Guy Walker,2020-04-28 The systems in which we work continue to evolve creating emergent problems and often strengthening intractable issues In order to remain relevant and impactful the discipline of ergonomics needs its paradigms to evolve too The aim of this book is to provide researchers and practitioners with new paradigms in the form of ideas concepts theories methods practices and values The chapters take the reader on a journey through underlying theories new ways to apply those theories and emerging domains in which ergonomics is expected to play a greater role Readers of this book will be inspired by these new paradigms in ergonomics and seek to push the boundaries even further The lifeblood of the science depends on continual evolution and developments to take on the challenges we face in complex sociotechnical systems design and evaluation Perhaps the most significant take home message from this book is the demonstration of how theory maps onto practice As such the only remaining paradigm shift is for these ideas concepts methods and practices to be taken up more widely and the discipline advanced until the next paradigm shift occurs The chapters were originally published as a special issue in the journal Ergonomics      Management, a Bibliography for NASA Managers ,1989      Management ,1989
