Love In Paris Histoires Damour:

Love Online Jean-Claude Kaufmann, 2012-03-05 A study of the relationship between the internet and relationships that investigates whether we can ever really combine sex and feelings instant gratification and enduring commitment using the example of one night stands arranged via online dating sites Love as Passion Niklas Luhmann, 2014-12-08 In this important book Niklas Luhmann one of the leading social thinkers of the late 20th century analyses the emergence of love as the basis of personal relationships in modern societies He argues that while family systems remained intact in the transition from traditional to modern societies a semantics for love developed to accommodate extra marital relationships this semantics was then transferred back into marriage and eventually transformed marriage itself Drawing on a diverse range of historical and literary sources Luhmann retraces the emergence and evolution of the special semantics of passionate love that has come to form the basis of modern forms of intimacy and personal relationships This classic book by Luhmann has been widely recognized as a work of major importance It is an outstanding contribution to social theory and it provides an original and illuminating perspective on the nature of modern marriage and sexuality Reinventing Love Mona Chollet, 2024-07-02 A new work by the author of In Defense of Witches that seeks to redefine heterosexual relationships and give women back their voice As feminist principles have taken wider hold in society and basic ideas about equality for women can seem a given many women still struggle in one of the most important areas of life love Whether it's finding a partner seeking a commitment from one or struggling in a relationship that is unfulfilling or even potentially abusive women still find that deeply engrained notions of gender and behavior can be obstacles to a healthy loving relationship In her new book acclaimed French feminist Mona Chollet tackles some of these long held and pervasive ideas that remain stumbling blocks for many women in heterosexual relationships Drawing from popular culture politics and literature Reinventing Love provides a provocative accessible look at how heterosexual relationships can improve and evolve under a feminist lens

Love, Desire and Transcendence in French Literature Paul Gifford, 2016-12-05 European literature and theory of the twentieth century have been intensely preoccupied with questions of Desire whereas love has increasingly represented a fractured and strange if not actually suspect proposal this is a prime symptom of an age of deep cultural mutation and uncertainty Paul Gifford's book allows this considerable contemporary phenomenon to be observed steadily and whole with strategic understanding of its origins nature and meaning Gifford paints a clear and coherent picture of the evolution of erotic ideas and their imaginary and formal expressions in modern French writing He first retraces the formative matrix of French tradition by engaging with five classic sources Plato's Symposium the Song of Songs the myth of Genesis the tension between Greek Eros and Christian Agape and the repercussions of Nietzsche's declaration of the death of God Modern variations on these perennial problematics are then pursued in ten chapters devoted to Proust Valéry Claudel Breton Bataille Duras Barthes Irigaray Emmanuel Kristeva Literary and theoretical perspectives are perfectly blended in his study of these attempts at deciphering Eros The book will appeal not only to students of French literature but to all those interested in the cultural upheavals of the twentieth century The Curious History of Love Jean-Claude Kaufmann,2011-12-12

The one emotion that matters most to many people is the one about which social thinkers rarely speak love For many people love is the thing that matters most in their lives they are searching for love hoping to find in love a kind of happiness that they cannot find in their work or by surrounding themselves with material goods But where does this peculiar and powerful blending together of love and happiness come from and why do we find it such a compelling idea today In this short book Jean Claude Kaufmann offers a fresh account of the history of a feeling unlike any other The modern idea of love as passion was born in the 12th century but it was marginalized by the rise of a kind of instrumental calculating reason that became increasingly central to modern societies As calculating reason began to encroach on the personal domain many individuals sought to escape from it searching for happiness elsewhere As our societies become dominated by calculating reason and selfish individualism we search elsewhere for the kind of happy love that will heal all our wounds This is why we experience so many changes of heart in our personal lives at times we are coldly calculating and then a few moments later we sacrifice ourselves to love without a second thought Written by one of France s leading sociologists this highly readable book sheds new light on love and happiness and will resonate with many readers Handbook of French Popular Culture Pierre L.

Pasco, 2016-12-05 In this innovative study the author carves out a new field a sociology of literature in which he offers insightful commentary about the nexus of literature and society Calling on history sociology and psychology as well as literature as points of reference Allan Pasco examines the conceptual shift in the ideal of love in eighteenth century France Pasco explores the radical though gradual changes that occurred during the Enlightenment with respect to how the emotion of love was viewed Earlier love had been subordinate to the demands of family king and deity passion was dangerous and to be avoided But over time individual happiness became the greatest good and passion the measure of love Authors as diverse as Marivaux Marmontel Rousseau Bachelard d'Arnaud Pigault Lebrun and Madame de Staël make it clear that the ideal of rapturous love did not live up to its billing it did not last and it brought destructive fantasies an epidemic of disease the scourge of divorce and considerable anguish Still as Pasco points out passion became and remained the ideal and the Romantics were left to plumb its nature French Feminists on Religion Morny Joy, Kathleen O'Grady, Judith L. The Feminist Encyclopedia of French Literature Eva M. Sartori, 1999-07-30 The earliest known literary productions by women living in Europe were probably written by French writers As early as the 12th century women troubadours in the south of France were writing poems French women continued writing through the ages their number increasing as education became more available to women of all classes And yet of the great number of works by women writers who preceded the current feminist movement very few have survived A few writers such as Marie de France George Sand and Simone de Beauvoir became part of the canon But critics mostly male had judged the works of only a few women writers worthy of recognition As part of the feminist move to reclaim women writers and to rethink literary history scholars in French literature began to take a new look at women writers who had been popular during their lifetimes but who had not been admitted into the canon This reference book provides extensive information about French women writers and the world in which they lived Included are several hundred alphabetically arranged entries for authors literary genres such as the novel poetry and the short story literary movements such as classicism realism and surrealism life cycle events particular to women such as menstruation and menopause events and institutions which affected women differently than men such as revolutions wars and laws on marriage divorce and education The volume spans French literature from the Middle Ages to the present and covers those writers who lived and worked mainly in France The entries are written by expert contributors and each includes bibliographical information The entries focus on each writer's awareness of how her gender shaped her outlook and opportunities on how categorizations structures and terms used to describe literary works have been defined for women and the ways in which women writers have responded to these definitions The volume begins with a feminist history of French literature and concludes with a selected general bibliography and a chronology of women writers
