Challenges for Health and Safety in Higher

Education and Research Organisations Olga Kuzmina, Stefan Hoyle, 2020-11-19 This book provides a summary of the main obstacles for creating and maintaining high standards of health and safety in higher education and research organisations. The obstacles include high staff turnover and an uncertain and constantly evolving research environment, small groups lacking unified management structure, deadline time pressures, restricted funding models and existing old school culture. Often the Health and Safety specialists and personnel managers in these organisations find themselves reiterating the same information which gets lost as soon as the new cohort of workers arrives. Providing insight into methods of managing health and safety training and supervision which help to build a strong and reliable health and safety system, this book is a collection of best practices from experienced safety professionals and researchers in Europe and the United States. These experiences demonstrate how health and safety professionals have overcome these issues and provide readers with ideas and models they can use in their own organisations. The information contained within is aimed at health and safety professionals and managers in universities and research organisations conducting scientific and engineering research with transient workers and students worldwide.

Iowa Administrative Bulletin, 1988 Leadership and Sustainability in the Built Environment Alex Opoku, Vian Ahmed, 2015-02-11 Leadership and sustainability have separately been the subject of numerous studies in a built environment context over the years but they have yet to be addressed together. The real impact of legislation and guidelines designed to promote sustainability within the construction industry is closely linked to the leadership behind it as this book explores in a variety of ways. Featuring research from 5 different continents, the international scope of this book allows a comparison of experiences in different types of economies and cultures. The interdisciplinarity of this subject is also reflected in the backgrounds of the contributors with a significant number of perspectives derived from business and management research. The issues examined in this book are essential reading for all researchers, decision makers and graduate students in the built environment.
