while Morozov and Sageman warn that the internet poses risks to citizens and societies Using a comparative framework to illustrate how the two states differ in their assessments of the risks to citizens posed by the introduction of new technology Mary Manjikian compellingly argues that both risk and disease are ideas which are understood differently at different historic periods and in different cultures Her culturalist approach claims that the internet is neither inherently helpful nor inherently threatening Rather its role and the dangers it poses may be understood differently by different societies Is the
