Challenges and Solutions for Climate Change Wytze van der Gaast, Katherine Begg, 2012-05-22 The latest scientific knowledge on climate change indicates that higher greenhouse gas concentrations in the atmosphere through unchecked emissions will provoke severe climate change and ocean acidification Both impacts can fundamentally alter environmental structures on which humanity relies and have serious consequences for the food chain among others Climate change therefore poses major socio economic technical and environmental challenges which will have serious impacts on countries pathways towards sustainable development As a result climate change and sustainable development have increasingly become interlinked A changing climate makes achieving Millennium Development Goals more difficult and expensive so there is every reason to achieve development goals with low greenhouse gas emissions This leads to the following five challenges discussed by Challenges and Solutions for Climate Change

- 1 To place climate negotiations in the wider context of sustainability equity and social change so that development benefits can be maximised at the same time as decreasing greenhouse gas emissions
- 2 To select technologies or measures for climate change mitigation and adaptation based on countries sustainable development and climate goals
- 3 To create low greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient strategies and action plans in order to accelerate innovation needed for achieving sustainable development and climate goals on the scale and timescale required within countries
- 4 To rationalize the current directions in international climate policy making in order to provide coherent and efficient support to developing countries in devising and implementing strategies and action plans for low emission technology transfers to deliver climate and sustainable development goals
- 5 To facilitate development of an international framework for financial resources in order to support technology development and transfer improve enabling environments for innovation address equity issues such as poor people's energy access and make implementation of activities possible at the desired scale within the country

The solutions presented in Challenges and Solutions for Climate Change show how ambitious measures can be undertaken which are fully in line with domestic interests both in developing and in developed countries and how these measures can be supported through the international mechanisms

Smart Solutions to Climate Change Bjørn Lomborg, 2010-09-09 The failure of the Copenhagen climate conference in December 2009 revealed major flaws in the way the world's policymakers have attempted to prevent dangerous levels of increases in global temperatures. The expert authors in this specially commissioned collection focus on the likely costs and benefits of a very wide range of policy options including geo engineering, mitigation of CO₂, methane and black carbon, expanding forest research and development of low carbon energy and encouraging green technology transfer. For each policy, authors outline all of the costs, benefits and likely outcomes in fully referenced, clearly presented chapters accompanied by shorter critical alternative perspectives. To further stimulate debate, a panel of economists including three Nobel laureates evaluate and rank the attractiveness of the policies. This authoritative and thought provoking book will challenge readers to form their own conclusions about the best ways to respond to global warming. Landslides and

Climate Change: Challenges and Solutions Robin McInnes, Jenny Jakeways, Helen Fairbank, Emma Mathie, 2007-05-10

Understanding the relationship between landslides and climate change is crucially important in planning a proactive approach to hazard and risk management. Advances in geohazard modelling and prediction enable us to be better prepared for the impacts of climate change but there is still a need for effective risk management and informed planning. Global

Edition Disha Experts, Diffuse Pollution, Degraded Waters: emerging policy solutions Organisation for Economic Co-Operation and Development (OECD), 2017-06-15 After decades of regulation and investment to reduce point source water pollution, OECD countries still face water quality challenges, e.g. eutrophication from diffuse agricultural and urban sources of pollution that is dispersed pollution from surface runoff, soil filtration and atmospheric deposition. The relative lack of progress reflects the complexities of controlling multiple pollutants from multiple sources, their high spatial and temporal variability, associated transactions costs and limited political acceptability of regulatory measures. This report outlines the water quality challenges facing OECD countries today, presents a range of policy instruments and innovative case studies of diffuse pollution control and concludes with an integrated policy framework to tackle diffuse water pollution. An optimal approach will likely entail a mix of policy interventions reflecting the basic OECD principles of water quality management: pollution prevention, treatment at source, the polluter pays and beneficiary pays principles, equity and policy coherence. Modelling
