

1.NDT

Nondestructive testing or Non-destructive testing (NDT) is a wide group of analysis techniques used in science and industry to evaluate the properties of a material, component or system without causing damage. Because NDT does not permanently alter the article being inspected, it is a highly valuable technique that can save both money and time in product evaluation, troubleshooting, and research.

In the current Photonic era of Technology, it is impossible to separate man power from the machinery whatever may be the advancement achieved. Since we are experiencing a transition from the Electronic era to Photonic era, with limited experts out in the field, personnel qualification & certification is becoming a mandatory requirement regardless of experience.

About Course

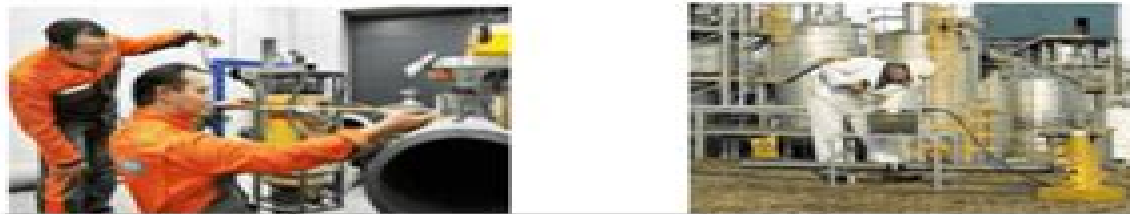

We offer training and certification on four major NDT (Non Destructive Testing) methods viz.,

1. Ultrasonic Testing

In ultrasonic testing (UT), very short ultrasonic pulse-waves with centre frequencies ranging from 0.1-15 MHz and occasionally up to 50 MHz are launched into materials to detect internal flaws or to characterize materials. A common example is ultrasonic thickness measurement, which tests the thickness of the test object, for example, to monitor pipe work corrosion.

2.Radiographic Testing
