, Governance in Transition Ján Buček, Andrew Ryder, 2015-04-15 This book looks at experience in government restructuring and devolution from a variety of national and international perspectives both within the European Union and elsewhere focusing on lessons learned and ways forward Since the 1980s there has been a global trend to give more power to local governments Even in Korea and the United Kingdom the most centralised countries in the OECD local government powers have increased with substantial economic benefits Within the European Union the principle of subsidiarity has enshrined the idea of devolution New member states particularly in central and eastern Europe have significantly created new and self sufficient local and regional governments However this process has been complicated Devolution is not a panacea in its own right and need not lead to economic growth While it can encourage savings through collaboration it can also lead to confused lines of authority and can complicate policy formation and implantation Devolution can strain local budgets forcing local governments to rely on their own sources of finance rather than central government transfers Suburbanisation rural depopulation the growth of some regions and the decline of others have raised new problems particularly related to inter governmental cooperation among local governments and different levels of government In many cases an increased number of governments has increased administrative costs TARGET SNAP 2019 (Past Papers 2005 - 2018) + 5 Mock Tests 11th Edition Disha Experts, 2019-08-04 Precision Strike Warfare and International Intervention Mike Aaronson, Wali Aslam, Tom Dyson, Regina Rauxloh, 2014-09-15 This book explores whether the new capabilities made possible by precision strike technologies are reshaping approaches to international intervention Since the end of the Cold War US technological superiority has led to a more proactive and some would argue high risk approach to international military intervention New technologies including the capacity to mount precision military strikes from high level bombing campaigns and more recently the selective targeting of individuals from unmanned aerial vehicles UAVs have facilitated air campaigns supported by Special Forces without the commitment of large numbers of troops on the ground Such campaigns include for example NATO's high level aerial bombardment of Milosevic's forces in Kosovo in 1999 and of Gaddafi's in Libya in 2011 and the US operation involving Special Forces against Osama Bin Laden The development of UAVs and electronic data intercept technologies has further expanded the potential scope of interventions for example against Islamic militants in the tribal areas of Pakistan This volume examines three key and interrelated dimensions of these new precision strike capabilities 1 the strategic and foreign policy drivers and consequences 2 the legal and moral implications of the new capabilities and 3 the implications for decision making at the strategic operational and tactical levels This book will be of much interest to students of war and technology air power international intervention security studies and IR TARGET SNAP 2017 (Past Papers 2005 - 2016) + 5 Mock Tests - 9th Edition Disha Experts, 2017-09-01 TARGET SNAP 2017 Past 2005 2016 5 Mock Tests contains the detailed solutions of SNAP Question Papers from 2005 to 2016 The book also

Transatlantic Relations after the Russian-Ukrainian War Lorenzo Cladi,2025-06-30 This book provides a neorealist explanation of transatlantic relations and explores key issues at the forefront of the relationship between the US and its European allies in the context of the Russia Ukraine war

Transatlantic relations involving the relationship between the United States and its European counterparts are an essential feature and a cornerstone of the foreign policy of many states Whilst the transatlantic allies share a relationship that has been in place since 1945 the re election of Donald J Trump as US President the continuing war between Russia and Ukraine and unsettled issues around European strategic autonomy all pose questions on the state of the partnership This book utilises a neorealist theoretical framework to tackle these questions It argues that transatlantic relations continue to prosper and European states remain dependent on the US for their security which is made viable and necessary by means of dealing with collective threats to the security of transatlantic allies of which the Russian invasion of Ukraine is the most obvious recent manifestation The book also deals with other notable case studies of transatlantic relations such as the French intervention in Mali and the US withdrawal from Afghanistan This book will be of interest to students of European security Foreign Policy and International Relations

Counterterrorism Benoît Gomis,2015-07-17 Counterterrorism Reassessing the Policy Response promotes a more nuanced understanding of the effectiveness of current counterterrorism practices and the need for reform It challenges government media and academic accounts that exaggerate terrorist threats particularly in comparison to other threats such as organized crime Author BenoGomis r Tourism and Citizenship Raoul Bianchi, Marcus Stephenson, 2014-02-24 More than sixty years since the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights first enshrined the right to freedom of movement in an international charter of human rights the issue of mobility and the right to tourism itself have become increasingly significant areas of scholarly interest and political debate However despite the fact that cross border travel implies certain citizenship rights as well as the material capacity to travel the manifold intersections between tourism and citizenship have not received the attention they deserve in the literature This book endeavours to fill this gap by being the first to fully examine the role of tourism in wider society through a critically informed sociological reflection on the unfolding relationships between international tourism and distinct renderings of citizenship with particular emphasis on the ideological and political alignments between the freedom of movement and the right to travel The text weaves its analysis of citizenship and travel in the context of addressing large scale societal transformations engendered by globalization neoliberalism and the geopolitical realignments between states as well as comprehending the internal reconfiguring of the relationship between citizens and states themselves By doing so it focuses on key themes including tourism and social citizenship rights race culture and minority rights states markets and the freedom of movement tourism peace and geo politics consumerism and class and ethical tourism global citizenship and cosmopolitanism The book concludes that the advancement of genuinely democratic and just forms of tourism must be commensurate with demands for distributive justice and a democratic politics of mobility encompassing all of humanity This timely and significant contribution to the sociology and politics of international tourism through the lens of citizenship is a must read for students and scholars in both in the fields of tourism and social science The royalties received from this book will be donated to the International Porter Protection Group Transnational Commercial and Consumer Law Toshiyuki Kono, Mary Hiscock, Arie Reich, 2018-08-27 This book explores current developments in transnational commercial and consumer law. It features essays written by leading experts many of who have taken part in the negotiation and formulation of the international instruments they discuss here. The contributors look at issues arising from the profound changes that globalization is having on the legal norms governing commercial and consumer transactions both domestic and transnational. They consider how relations between private actors, state regulators and national courts are being completely reconfigured. This in turn generates pressures for legal harmonization and creates opportunities for new national and transnational legal norms and procedures to develop. The contributions address both the dynamics and the substance of these developments. Topics included are the UNCITRAL Model Law on secured transactions and on cross border insolvency, the ICC Uniform Customs and Practices of Documentary Credits, UCP 600 and the dispute resolution mechanism and practices of the World Trade Organization. The content was formerly presented as papers at the 18th Biennial Meeting of the International Academy of Commercial and Consumer Law, the International Academy at Kyushu University, Japan. Overall, this book provides readers with a solid theoretical foundation and strong familiarity with the practice of law and international commerce, offering realistic and practical conclusions.

While the military use of drones has been the subject of much scrutiny, the use of drones for humanitarian purposes has so far received little attention. As the starting point for this study, it is argued that the prospect of using drones for humanitarian and other life saving activities has produced an alternative discourse on drones, dedicated to developing and publicizing the endless possibilities that drones have for doing good. Furthermore, it is suggested that the Good Drone narrative has been appropriated back into the drone warfare discourse as a strategy to make war more human. This book explores the role of the Good Drone as an organizing narrative for political projects, technology development and humanitarian action. Its contribution to the debate is to take stock of the multiple logics and rationales according to which drones are good, with a primary objective to initiate a critical conversation about the political currency of good. This study recognizes the many possibilities for the use of drones and takes these possibilities seriously by critically examining the difference the drones' functionalities can make, but also what difference the presence of drones themselves as unmanned and flying objects make. Discussed and analysed are the implications for the drone industry, user communities and the areas of crisis where drones are deployed.

Global Land Grabs Marc Edelman, Carlos Oya, Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., 2016-03-22 Since the 2008 world food crisis, a surge of land grabbing swept Africa, Asia and Latin America and even some regions of Europe and North America. Investors have uprooted rural communities for massive agricultural biofuels, mining, industrial and urbanisation projects. Water grabbing and green grabbing have further exacerbated social tensions. Early analyses of land grabbing focused on foreign actors, the biofuels boom in Africa and pointed to catastrophic consequences for the rural poor. Subsequently, scholars carried out local case studies in diverse world regions The contributors to this volume advance the discussion to a new stage critically scrutinizing alarmist claims of the first wave of research probing the historical antecedents of today's land grabbing examining large scale land acquisitions in light of international human rights and investment law and considering anew longstanding questions in agrarian political economy about forms of dispossession and accumulation and grassroots resistance Readers of this collection will learn about the impacts of land and water grabbing the relevance of key theorists including Marx Polanyi and Harvey the realities of China's involvement in Africa how contemporary land grabbing differs from earlier plantation agriculture and how social movements and rural people in general are responding to this new threat crisis management and draws implications for its role as an international security actor The success of EU crisis management has varied greatly and this book aims to identify the key factors that explain the differing degrees of coherence through a comparative analysis of its multidimensional crisis responses in Africa. The empirical focus lies on three prominent EU crisis management cases namely Libya in 2011, Somalia in 2011-2012 and the Sahel in 2012-2013. It analyses the activities and interaction of EU institutional actors and member states with a focus on France, the United Kingdom and Germany. The book argues that the EU represents a rather unpredictable security actor whose multi-level coherence is contingent on the congruence of domestic economic and electoral interests as well as national threat perceptions and the extent to which EU level coherence norms resonate with national norms on the use of force and modes of multilateral cooperation. In sum, this book offers systematic insight into EU crisis management and clarifies the conceptual and empirical boundaries of the comprehensive approach. Finally, the study of the micro-foundations of coherence allows for policy-relevant suggestions on the EU's future role as a security actor. This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy, European Security, Peace and Conflict Studies, African Politics and IR in general.
