Managing Archaeological Collections in Middle Eastern Countries Dianne Fitzpatrick, 2016-11-30 In this guide archaeologist Dianne Fitzpatrick sees archaeological collections management as a means of integrating achievable good practice strategies into research designs and site management plans from the outset Marketing Strategy for Museums Christina Lister,2023-12-06 Marketing Strategy for Museums is a practical guide to developing and delivering marketing that supports museums missions and goals Explaining how museums can be strategic and proactive in their approach it also shows how to make effective decisions with limited resources Presenting examples from a range of museums around the world the author positions marketing as a vital function that aims to build mutually beneficial relationships between museums and their audiences both existing and new and ensure museums are relevant and viable Breaking down key marketing models Lister shows how they can be applied to museums in a meaningful way Setting out a step by step framework for developing a museum s marketing strategy and for creating marketing campaigns which can be scaled up or down Readers will also be encouraged to reflect on topics such as sustainable marketing ethical marketing and accessible and inclusive marketing Marketing Strategy for Museums provides an accessible guide that seeks to demystify marketing and boost the confidence of those responsible for planning and delivering marketing in museums It is aimed at people working in museums of all types and sizes and will also be relevant to students of museum and heritage studies Public History Jennifer Lisa Koslow,2021-03-03 PUBLIC HISTORY PROVIDES A BACKGROUND IN THE HISTORY PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICES OF THE FIELD OF PUBLIC HISTORY Public History An Introduction from Theory to Application is the first text of its kind to offer both historical background on the ways in which historians have collected preserved and interpreted history with and for public audiences in the United States since the nineteenth century to the present and instruction on current practices of public history This book helps us recognize and critically evaluate how why where and who produces history in public settings This unique textbook provides a foundation for students advancing to a career in the types of spaces museums historic sites heritage tourism and archives that require an understanding of public history It offers a review of the various types of methodologies that are commonly employed including oral history and digital history The author also explores issues of monuments and memory upon which public historians are increasingly called to comment Lastly the textbook includes a section on questions of ethics that public historians must face in their profession This important book Contains a synthetic history on the significant individuals and events associated with museums historic preservation archives and oral history Includes exercises for putting theory into practice Designed to help us uncover hidden histories construct interpretations create a sense of place and negotiate contested memories Offers an ideal resource for students set on working in museums historic sites heritage tourism and more Written for students Public History An Introduction from Theory to Application offers in one comprehensive volume a guide to an understanding of the fundamentals of public history in the United States Inventorying Cultural Heritage Collections Sandra Vanderwarf,Bethany Romanowski,2022-03-14 This two part text opens with an argument few collections practitioners would contest Regular inventories are central to meaningful sustainable and ethical collections preservation and access But Vanderwarf and Romanowski argue that in practice some 25 years working with diverse collections between them inventories are uncommon instead of functioning as a commonplace feature of collections care they tend to be evoked as a last resort when a museum has lost control of its collection Part I offers a flexible project management framework that illustrates strategies for reining in control of collections now From identifying objectives that best serve the collection in question to securing stakeholder support and planning time and resources Part I eliminates some guesswork around what may be an unprecedented and intensive project To maintain the benefits of a project style inventory the authors then encourage practitioners to embrace inventory as an ongoing evolving collections care function that reflects changing professional values and expectations from the communities museums serve By centering computerized databases barcoding and digital collections the authors further acknowledge these technologies as permanent evolving features of collections and inventory practice that merit increased resourcing Part II gives voice to practitioners around the world through case studies that affirm the vital role of inventories in regaining control of collections Some of these inventories occurred during the course of everyday work while others were responses to natural disasters and armed conflict Still others may be seen as expressions of social justice As much as the authors offer a guide to performing inventories thereby filling a longstanding gap in the literature they invite cultural heritage institutions to rethink how the stories held in collections can be better told and preserved through enhanced inventory practice The book will benefit seasoned museum collections practitioners as well as those who lack access to formal museology education and training The book targets stewards of cultural heritage and material culture collections with varying resources

Ecomuseums and Climate Change Nunzia Borrelli, Raul Dal Santo, Peter Davis, 2023-06-15

Climate change is a reality and communities around the world are now facing significant environmental problems rising global temperatures leading to increased risk of flooding fire and sea level rise resulting in the destruction of property and social infrastructure loss of biodiversity and tangible and intangible cultural heritage and damage to economies Little wonder then that the online conference held on 30 September 2021 with the title Ecomuseums and Climate Action attracted more than one hundred participants from countries whose communities are facing these problems This book presents the results of this conference where heritage experts community activists curators politicians and academics from several countries explored how ecomuseums and community museums are acting as catalysts for transition renewal and sustainable development and how they might effectively contribute to the UN's Sustainable Development Goals and climate action How can these organisations best contribute to the debate about the climate crisis and promote local action Central to those actions are encouraging local people to recognise how important their cultural natural and intangible cultural heritage is in making places special and giving a sense of belonging why that heritage should be sustained and how heritage assets can be used to promote climate action This book with its remarkable collection of essays from around the world demonstrates how small local actions considered together can have a dramatic and far reaching impact It will be warmly welcomed by anyone interested in climate action heritage and museum studies and environmental issues

Conservation of Cultural Heritage Hanna M. Szczepanowska, 2013 Conservation of Cultural Heritage covers the methods and practices needed for future museum professionals who will be working in various capacities with museum collections and artifacts It also assists current professionals in understanding the complex decision making processes that face conservators on a daily basis The uniqueness of this book lies in correlating the aspects of material science and the behaviour of artifacts in a museum environment It will be of special benefit to museum professionals not trained in conservation Covering a broad range of topics that are key to sound conservation in the museum Conservation of Cultural Heritage is an important tool for students and professionals alike in ensuring that best practice is followed in the preservation of important collections

The Archaeologist's Manual for Conservation Bradley A. Rodgers, 2007-05-08 This is a Foreword by an archaeologist not a conservator but as Brad Rodgers says Conservation has been steadily pulled from archaeology by the forces of specialization p 3 and he wants to remedy that situation through this manual He sees this work as a call to action for the non professional conservator permitting curators conservators and archaeologists to identify artifacts that need professional attention and allow these professionals to stabilize most artifacts in their own laboratories with minimal intervention using simple non toxic procedures p 5 It is the mission of Brad's manual to bring conservation back into archaeology p 6 The degree of success of that goal depends on the degree to which archaeologists pay attention to and put to use what Brad has to say because as he says The conservationist archaeologist is responsible to make preparation for an artifact's care even before it is excavated and after its storage into the foreseeable future a tremendous responsibility p 10 The manual is a combination of highly technical as well as common sense methods of conserving wood iron and other metals ceramics glass and stone organics and composites a far better guide to artifact conservation than was available to me when I first faced that archaeological challenge at colonial Brunswick Town North Carolina in 1958 a challenge still being faced by archaeologists today The stage of conservation in 1958 is in dramatic contrast to the procedures Brad describes in this manual conservation has indeed made great progress For instance a common procedure then was to heat the artifacts red hot in a furnace a method that made me cringe

Manual of Museum Planning Barry Lord, Gail Dexter Lord, Lindsay Martin, 2012-03-29 As museums have taken on more complex roles in their
