Looking At The Overlooked Four Essays On Still:

Looking at the Overlooked Norman Bryson, 1990 Norman Bryson analyzes the origins history and logic of still life one of the most enduring forms of Western painting The first essay is devoted to Roman wall painting while in the second the author surveys a major segment in the history of still life from seventeenth century Spanish painting to Cubism The third essay tackles the controversial field of seventeenth century Dutch still life Bryson concludes in the final essay that the persisting tendency to downgrade the genre of still life is profoundly rooted in the historical oppression of women

Looking at the Overlooked Norman Bryson, 1995 Looking at the Overlooked Norman Bryson, 1990 Historically and culturally the societies that produced still life painting could hardly be more diverse What is it then that allows us to place such different types of image in a single category Norman Bryson argues that the family resemblances between the different types of still life stem from their common portrayal of a level of material culture that retains its fundamental outlines through long spans of time and across the boundaries and divisions of national culture the culture of domestic routine and the rituals of hospitality How this low plane reality is historically viewed and inflected by the higher levels and discourses of the surrounding culture is the fundamental subject of this book Charles Sheeler Mark Rawlinson, 2020-09-08 Charles Sheeler was the stark poet of the machine age Photographer of the Ford Motor Company and founder of the painting movement Precisionism he is remembered as a promoter of and apologist for the industrialised capitalist ethic This major new rethink of one of the key figures of American modernism argues that Sheeler's true relationship to progress was in fact highly negative his precisionism both skewed and imprecise Covering the entire oeuvre from photography to painting and drawing attention to the inconsistencies curiosities and puzzles embedded in Sheeler's work Rawlinson reveals a profound critique of the processes of rationalisation and the conditions of modernity The book argues finally for a re evaluation of Sheeler's often dismissed late work which it suggests may only be understood through a radical shift in our understanding of the work of this prominent figure The Still Life in the Fiction of A. S. Byatt Elizabeth Hicks, 2010-08-11 This book explores the ways in which English writer A S Byatt's visual still lifes descriptions of real or imagined artworks and what are termed verbal still lifes scenes such as laid tables rooms and market stalls are informed by her veneration of both realism and writing It examines Byatt's adoption of the Barthesian concept of textual pleasure showing how her ekphrastic descriptions involve consumption and take time to unfold for the reader thereby highlighting the limitations of painting It also investigates the ways in which Byatt's still lifes demonstrate her debts to English modernist author Virginia Woolf French writer Marcel Proust and the Pre Raphaelite Brotherhood of nineteenth century Britain A number of Byatt's verbal still lifes are read as semiotic markers of her characters particularly with regard to economic status and class Further her descriptions uniting food and sexuality are perceived as part of her overall representation of pleasure Finally Byatt's employment of vanitas iconography in many of her portrayals of death is discussed showing how her recurring motif of Keats's Ode on a Grecian

Urn teases out the still life's inherent tension between living passion and cold artwork Aesthetics and Experience in Music Performance Denis Collins, Klisala Harrison, Samantha Owens, 2008-12-11 Drawing upon a wide range of scholarly enquiry into early music queer musicology ethnomusicology performance practice music education and technology Aesthetics and Experience in Music Performance provides a lively forum for the articulation of varied perspectives on the role of music its interpretation and function in contexts supported by those who practice or experience it The formal and shorter discussion papers included in this scholarly collection were presented at the National Workshop of the Musicological Society of Australia held at the University of Queensland Brisbane in October 2003 The themes of aesthetics and experience are central to this publication and each paper engages in a scholarly dialogue on the technical expressive and embodied aspects of performance The papers included in this publication bring together the research of a wide community of scholars e g musicologists anthropologists ethnomusicologists and linguists working in the field of performance studies and collectively reflect the musicological issues being debated in Australia today The Life of Things, the Love of Things Remo Bodei, 2015-04-01 From prehistoric stone tools to machines to computers things have traveled a long road along with human beings Changing with the times places and methods of their production emerging from diverse histories and enveloped in multiple layers of meaning things embody ideas emotions and symbols of which we are often unaware The meaning of thing is richer than that of object which is something that is manipulated with indifference or according to impersonal technical procedures Things also differ from merchandise objects that can be sold or exchanged or seen as status symbols Things in the philosophical sense are nodes of relationships with the life of others chains of continuity among generations bridges that connect individual and collective histories junctions between human civilizations and nature Things incite us to listen to reality to make them part of ourselves giving fresh life to an otherwise suffocating interiority Things also reveal the hidden aspect of a subject in its most secret and least explored side Things are the repositories of ideas emotions and symbols whose meaning we often do not understand In an unexpected but coherent journey that includes the visions of classic philosophers from Aristotle to Husserl and from Hegel to Heidegger along with the analysis of works of art Bodei addresses issues such as fetishism the memory of things the emergence of department stores consumerism nostalgia for the past the self portraits of Rembrandt and Dutch still lifes of the seventeenth century The more we are able to recover objects in their wealth of meanings and integrate them into our mental and emotional horizons he argues the broader and deeper our world becomes A Taste of Power Katharina Vester, 2015-10-02 A Taste of Power is an investigation of the crucial role culinary texts and practices played in the making of cultural identities and social hierarchies since the founding of the United States Nutritional advice and representations of food and eating including cookbooks literature magazines newspapers still life paintings television shows films and the internet have helped throughout American history to circulate normative claims about citizenship gender performance sexuality class privilege race and ethnicity while promising an increase in cultural capital and social mobility to those who comply with the prescribed norms The study examines culinary writing and practices as forces for the production of social order and at the same time as points of cultural resistance against hegemonic norms especially in shaping dominant ideas of nationalism gender and sexuality suggesting that eating right is a gateway to becoming an American a good citizen an ideal man or a perfect mother Cookbooks as a low prestige literary form became the largely unheralded vehicles for women to participate in nation building before they had access to the vote or public office for middle class authors to assert their class privileges for men to claim superiority over women even in the kitchen and for Lesbian authors to reinscribe themselves into the heteronormative economy of culinary culture The book engages in close reading of a wide variety of sources and genres to uncover the intersections of food politics and privilege in American culture Provided by publisher Cultures of Collecting Roger Cardinal,2004-09-02 This book traces the psychology history and theory of the compulsion to collect focusing not just on the normative collections of the Western canon but also on collections that reflect a fascination with the Other and the marginal the ephemeral exotic or just plain curious There are essays on the Neoclassical architect Sir John Soane Sigmund Freud and Kurt Schwitters one of the masters of collage Others examine imperialist encounters with remote cultures the conquistadors in America in the sixteenth century and the British in the Pacific in the eighteenth and the more recent collectors of popular culture be they of Swatch watches Elvis Presley memorabilia or of packaging and advertising With essays by Jean Baudrillard Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann Nicholas Thomas Mieke Bal John Forrester John Windsor Naomi Schor Susan Stewart Anthony Alan Shelton John Elsner Roger Cardinal and an interview with Robert Opie Inhospitable World Jennifer Fay,2018-03-01 In recent years environmental and human rights advocates have suggested that we have entered the first new geological epoch since the end of the ice age the Anthropocene In this new epoch humans have come to reshape unwittingly both the climate and natural world humankind has caused mass extinctions of plant and animal species polluted the oceans and irreversibly altered the atmosphere Ironically our efforts to make the planet more hospitable to ourselves seem to be driving us toward our inevitable extinction A force of nature humanity is now decentered as the agent of history As Jennifer Fay argues this new situation is to geological science what cinema has always been to human culture Film like the Anthropocene is a product of the industrial revolution but arises out of a desire to preserve life and master time and space It also calls for the creation of artificial worlds unnatural weather and deadly environments for entertainment scientific study and devising military strategy Filmmaking stages quite literally the process by which worlds and weather come into being and meaning and it mimics the forces that are driving this new planetary inhospitality Cinema in other words provides an image of nature in the age of its mechanical reproducibility Fay argues that cinema exemplifies the philosophical political and perhaps even logistical processes by which we can adapt to these forces and also imagine a world without humans in it Whereas standard ecological criticism attends to the environmental crisis as an unraveling of our natural state this book looks to film from Buster Keaton to Jia Zhangke to films of atomic testing and early polar exploration to consider how it reflects upon the creation and destruction of human environments What are the implications of ecological inhospitality What role might cinema and media theory play in challenging our presumed right to occupy and populate the world As an art form film enjoys a unique relationship to the material elemental world it captures and produces Through it we may appreciate the ambitions to design an unhomely planet that may no longer accommodate us

The Sublime in the Visual Culture of the Seventeenth-Century Dutch Republic Stijn Bussels, Bram Van Oostveldt, 2023-11-07 Contrary to what Kant believed about the Dutch and their visual culture as being of an orderly and diligent position and thus having no feeling for the sublime this book argues that the sublime played an important role in seventeenth century Dutch visual culture By looking at different visualizations of exceptional heights divine presence political grandeur extreme violence and extraordinary artifacts the authors demonstrate how viewers were confronted with the sublime which evoked in them a combination of contrasting feelings of awe and fear attraction and repulsion In studying seventeenth century Dutch visual culture through the lens of notions of the sublime we can move beyond the traditional and still widespread views on Dutch art as the ultimate representation of everyday life and the expression of a prosperous society in terms of calmness neatness and order The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history visual culture architectural history and cultural history The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 4 0 International license Funded by Ghent University

Food in the Arts Harlan Walker, 1999 A further volume in this series this year discussing not so much food or its preparation as its portrayal in any number of art forms such as popular music crime novels film theatre literature and fine art There are also some papers which concentrate on the art of food or art relating to food an instance is the art of tissue paper orange wrappers a recondite but riveting item My impression when this subject was first mooted was that all contributions would revolve around paintings and high arts I was mistaken there is a remarkable spread the arrangement of 18th century desserts cookery and the Cuban Santeria religion drink in 19th century English fiction food in film noir the cook as artist in 18th century England architectural food design in France and Italy popcorn poetry food and eating in Bronte novels and much more These volumes are sometimes indigestible fricassees if swallowed at once but think of them as platters of oysters each may contain a pearl By the finish a bracelet at least perhaps a necklace is the consequence

Handbook of Historical Animal Studies Mieke Roscher, André Krebber, Brett Mizelle, 2021-06-08 The handbook provides a comprehensive evaluation of approaches topics and research areas of the rapidly developing field of Historical Animal Studies The so called animal turn specifically inspired new takes on writing history This upsurge in research has led to immense amounts of new empirical studies as well as approaches to historiography which this handbook aims to systemize and influence all in one place Ruskin After 200 Sara L. Maurer, Judith Stoddart, Deanna K. Kreisel, Amy Woodson-Boulton, 2025-04-22 This edited volume offers new models for engaging with the work of John Ruskin the Victorian art critic architectural and educational theorist amateur meteorologist and naturalist who gradually became an outspoken critic of capitalist economics and industrialization's toll on the environment Two hundred years after Ruskin's birth his relevance to art literature history architecture economics and natural science has not ebbed However the nature of Ruskin's relevance has evolved considerably This volume offers a cross section of current scholarship showing how a range of scholars continue to engage with Ruskin's work in their research The chapters provide a snapshot both of what scholars need from Ruskin now and how they continue to develop methodologies that allow them to keep in honest conversation with his writing work that is wide ranging visionary and nuanced but also elusive promiscuously mixing the symbolic and scientific and at times deeply marred by the shortcomings of sexism racism and rigid hierarchical thinking Picturing a Nation David M. Lubin, Charlotte C Weber Professor of Art David M Lubin, Professor David M Lubin, 1994-01-01 Art historian David Lubin examines the work of six nineteenth century American artists to show how their paintings both embraced and resisted dominant social values Lubin argues that artists such as George Bingham and Lily Martin Spencer were aware of the underlying social conflicts of their time and that their work reflected the nation's ambivalence toward domesticity its conflicting ideas about child rearing its racial disharmony and many other issues central to the formation of modern America From publisher description Crowning Glories Harriet Stone, 2019-04-08 Crowning Glories integrates Louis XIV's propaganda campaigns the transmission of Northern art into France and the rise of empiricism in the eighteenth century three historical touchstones to examine what it would have meant for France's elite to experience the arts in France simultaneously with Netherlandish realist painting In an expansive study of cultural life under the Sun King Harriet Stone considers the monarchy's elaborate palace decors the court's official records and the classical theatre alongside Northern images of daily life in private homes urban markets and country fields Stone argues that Netherlandish art assumes an unobtrusive yet for the history of ideas surprisingly dramatic role within the flourishing of the arts both visual and textual in France during Louis XIV's reign Netherlandish realist art represented thinking about knowledge that challenged the monarchy's hold on the French imagination and its efforts to impose the king's portrait as an ideal and proof of his authority As objects appreciated for their aesthetic and market value Northern realist paintings assumed an uncontroversial place in French royal and elite collections Flemish and Dutch still lifes genre paintings and cityscapes however were not merely accoutrements of power acquisitions made by those with influence and money Crowning Glories reveals how the empirical orientation of Netherlandish realism exposed French court society to a radically different mode of thought one that would gain full expression in the Encyclopédie of Diderot and d'Alembert Art & Money Marc Shell, 1995-06 A frank provocative and entirely unconventional look at two worlds in tandem the realms of money and art Profusely illustrated the book investigates how money becomes or is artwork and how artwork comes to assume some of the characteristics of money 9 color plates 100 halftones Designing for Luxury on the Bay of Naples Mantha Zarmakoupi, 2014 This study explores Roman luxury villa lifestyle and architecture to shed light on the villas design as a dynamic process related to cultural social and environmental factors Through an analysis of five villas from around the bay of Naples it shows how the Romans developed a sophisticated interplay between architecture and landscape Lotteries, Art Markets, and Visual Culture in the Low Countries, 15th-17th Centuries Sophie Raux, 2018-02-19 Lotteries Art Markets and Visual Culture examines lotteries as devices for distributing images and art objects and constructing their value in the former Low Countries Alongside the fairs and before specialist auction sales were established they were an atypical but popular and large scale form of the art trade As part of a growing entrepreneurial sensibility based on speculation and a sense of risk they lay behind many innovations This study looks at their actors networks and strategies It considers the objects at stake their value and the forms of visual communication intended to boost an appetite for ownership Ultimately it contemplates how the lottery culture impacted notions of Fortune and Vanitas in the visual arts
