Transportation Planning Adib Kanafani, Daniel Sperling, 2012-12-06 Soon after starting work on the development of a methodology for national transportation planning in Venezuela we realized the importance of an integrated management process for such an effort We also realized the absence in the literature of specific guidelines on how to manage and conduct a transportation planning effort The literature on the subject of national transportation planning is predominantly theoretical and technical in nature To a large extent the absence of literature on management and broad based methodological approaches reflects the limited and ad hoc nature of the experience in national transportation planning This book is an attempt to fill that gap The main objective of the book is to show one way by which a methodology for national transportation planning can be integrated into a process management framework It reports on the experience that the authors had in the Venezuelan case as well as in earlier national planning efforts The book is not intended as a theoretical discussion of planning Instead it adopts a particular theoretical stand and proceeds on that basis to develop a program for applying a specific methodology The intention is to leave as much of the details and elaborations of that methodology to the user This is motivated by two considerations The first is a pragmatic attempt to limit the scope of the book
