Chromatic Cinema Richard Misek, 2010-04-26 Chromatic Cinema Color permeates film and its history but study of its contribution to film has so far been fragmentary Chromatic Cinema provides the first wide ranging historical overview of screen color exploring the changing uses and meanings of color in moving images from hand painting in early skirt dance films to current trends in digital color manipulation In this richly illustrated study Richard Misek offers both a history and a theory of screen color He argues that cinematic color emerged from defined itself in response to and has evolved in symbiosis with black and white Exploring the technological cultural economic and artistic factors that have defined this evolving symbiosis Misek provides an in depth yet accessible account of color s spread through and ultimate effacement of black and white cinema

Royal Portraits in Hollywood Elizabeth A. Ford, Deborah C. Mitchell, 2009-06-26 Few lives provide as much history or drama as those of monarchs Filmmakers from the silent era to onward have displayed a deep fascination with the lives of royalty and with queens in particular Still the question remains what do these films really tell us about the women beneath the crowns Drawing on films from the 1930s to those of today Royal Portraits in Hollywood Filming the Lives of Queens investigates the ways in which these films reproduce history and represent women Though hardly progressive in nature many early films offered an acceptable nonthreatening way to present strong female characters in an economic and social landscape run almost exclusively by men Authors Elizabeth Ford and Deborah Mitchell track the evolution of queens on film noting how depictions of prominent women have changed over the past several decades and calling attention to the ways in which films both reflect and dictate the social norms of their eras By comparing historical records of monarchs such as Queen Christina of Sweden Catherine the Great Cleopatra and Elizabeth I with their onscreen personas and examining the biographical details of the actresses who portrayed these women Ford and Mitchell present a fascinating inquiry into issues of historical accuracy and gender politics in film

Poetics of Arabesk in Turkish-German Cinema Nazlı Kilerci-Stevanović,2025-06-16 This book challenges Eurocentric interpretations of the so called Turkish German cinema from a transnational perspective advocating for a comprehensive reevaluation to encourage enriched dialogues The first part critically assesses dominant media discourses on guest workers and migrants in the historiography of Turkish German cinema arguing for a shift from traditional identity focused narratives to a broader exploration of shared emotions The second part explores Arabesk which while originating as a hybrid musical genre has evolved into a significant cultural force encompassing a range of emotional phenomena Arabesk embodies the visceral often painful expressions of migration and dislocation characterized by a profound emotional intensity It articulates a painful passion and longing for the homeland left behind providing an invaluable method for understanding aesthetic nuances of Turkish German films Arabesk serves as an analytical tool for deconstructing cinematic expressions revealing complex emotional ties and cultivating a feeling of familiarity through the dynamic circulation and exchange of cultural media Thus Arabesk s poetics significantly shape transnational cinema practices and contribute to global cinema discourse
