Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff, Staff Bowker, Ed, 2004 European Defence Decision-Making Antonio Calcara, 2020-03-02 This book comparatively examines the preferences of four key arms producing states towards European joint armaments programmes The European defence market is characterised by a mixture of inter state competition and European cooperation and this work assesses why countries sometimes decide to cooperate with their partners while in other instances they refrain from doing so In order to shed light on this empirical puzzle the book focuses on state defence industry relations in the four major European arms producers France Germany Italy and the UK The main argument is that the public or private governance of industrial suppliers and market size are the two decisive variables that explain the simultaneous presence of cooperation and competition in European defence procurement Specifically it argues that in public governance ecosystems arms industries are able to capture the state s decision making processes to their own advantage In private governance ecosystems the state is relatively autonomous from defence industry s influence and able to pursue larger macro economic and military benefits Moreover the strategy pursued by governments and defence firms is decisively shaped by market size because of its importance in determining the relative costs and benefits of collaborative arrangements This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy defence studies European politics and International Relations Autocar, 2006 Popular Science, 2004-09 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Practical Panarchy for Adaptive Water Governance Barbara Cosens, Lance Gunderson, 2018-04-18 This book presents the results of an interdisciplinary project that examined how law policy and ecological dynamics influence the governance of regional scale water based social ecological systems in the United States and Australia The volume explores the obstacles and opportunities for governance that is capable of management adaptation and transformation in these regional social ecological systems as they respond to accelerating environmental change With the onset of the Anthropocene global and regional changes in biophysical inputs to these systems will challenge their capacity to respond while maintaining functions of water supply flood control hydropower production water quality and biodiversity Governance lies at the heart of the capacity of these systems to meet these challenges Assessment of water basins in the United States and Australia indicates that state centric governance of these complex and dynamic social environmental systems is evolving to a more complex diverse and complex array public and private arrangements In this process three challenges emerge for water governance to become adaptive to environmental change First is the need for legal reform to remove barriers to adaptive governance by authorizing government agencies to prepare for windows of opportunity through adaptive planning and to institutionalize the results of innovative solutions that arise once a window opens Second is the need for legal reform to give government agencies the authority to facilitate and participate in adaptive management and governance This must be accompanied by parallel legal reform to assure that engagement of private and economic actors and the increase in governmental flexibility does not destabilize basin economies or come at the expense of legitimacy accountability equity and justice Third development of means to continually assess thresholds and resilience of social ecological systems and the adaptive capacity of their current governance to structure actions at multiple scales The massive investment in water infrastructure on the river basins studied has improved the agricultural urban and economic sectors largely at the cost of other social and environmental values Today the infrastructure is aging and in need of substantial investment for those benefits to continue and adapt to ongoing environmental changes The renewal of institutions and heavily engineered water systems also presents the opportunity to modernize these systems to address inequity and align with the values and objectives of the 21st century Creative approaches are needed to transform and modernize water governance that increases the capacity of these water based social ecological systems to innovate adapt and learn will provide the tools needed to navigate an uncertain future The Mirror Eben C.
