Financial Accounting for MBAs

QUESTIONS

- Q1-1. Organizations undertake four major activities: planning, financing, investing, and operating. Financing is the means a company uses to pay for resources. Investing refers to the buying and selling of resources necessary to carry out the organization's plans. Operating activities are the actual carrying out of these plans. Planning is the glue that connects these activities, including the organization's ideas, goals and strategies. Financial accounting information provides valuable input into the planning process, and, subsequently, reports on the results of plans so that corrective action can be taken, if necessary.
- Q1-2. An organization's financing activities (liabilities and equity = sources of funds) pay for investing activities (assets = uses of funds). An organization's assets cannot be more or less than its liabilities and equity combined. This means: $\text{assets} = \text{liabilities} + \text{equity}$. This relation is called the accounting equation (sometimes called the balance sheet equation), and it applies to all organizations at all times.
- Q1-3. The four main financial statements are: income statement, balance sheet, statement of stockholders' equity, and statement of cash flows. The income statement provides information about the company's revenues, expenses and profitability over a period of time. The balance sheet lists the company's assets (what it owns), liabilities (what it owes), and stockholders' equity (the residual claims of its owners) as of a point in time. The statement of stockholders' equity reports on the changes to each stockholders' equity account during the period. The statement of cash flows identifies the sources (inflows) and uses (outflows) of cash, that is, where the company got its cash from and what it did with it. Together, the four statements provide a complete picture of the financial condition of the company.
- Q1-4. The balance sheet provides information that helps users understand a company's resources (assets) and claims to those resources (liabilities and stockholders' equity) as of a given point in time.

Dataquest, 1997-07 Human Dignity and Managerial Responsibility Ana Maria Davila Gomez, 2016-05-13 The issue of human rights in the context of corporate social responsibility is normally taken to relate to concern about exploitation in the supply chain child labour slavery in developing countries and similar evils but of course human rights are engaged in relation to the treatment of employees in any work situation Indeed as Human Dignity and Managerial Responsibility illustrates the handling of employees is increasingly recognised as an important ingredient of sustainable enterprise evidence shows that ethical and socially responsible behaviour is increasingly and successfully being engaged in many large corporations Much has been written about the responsibilities of managers Since employees are claimed by all organisations to be among their most important stakeholders it is ironic that research finds that the behaviour of many managers towards employees is often inappropriate The editors and contributors of Human Dignity and Managerial Responsibility argue that there is a clear connection between maintaining the dignity of the workforce and corporate performance and sustainability Their multiple perspectives on the workplace examine the position of the employee as a stakeholder together with issues about managing employees in relation to social responsibility and sustainability They discuss diversity in the broadest sense filling a gap in the research related literature essential to a more rounded understanding of CSR Human Dignity and Managerial Responsibility will appeal to a wide audience amongst those with an academic or professional interest in CSR sustainability governance and stakeholder management human rights diversity
