Framework for Analysis and Valuation

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

- Q1.1. Organizations undertake planning activities that support three major activities: financing, investing, and operating. Financing is the activity in which an entity borrows or pays for resources. Investing refers to the buying and selling of resources, representing the future and the organization's plans. Operating activities are the actual carrying out of those plans. Planning is the plan that coordinates these activities, including the organization's assets, goals, and strategies. Financial accounting information provides valuable input into the planning process, and, subsequently, reports on the results of plans and the economic activity that has taken, if necessary.
- Q1.2. An organization's financing activities (debt and equity) is sources of funds; it pays the investing activities (assets) to users of funds. An organization's assets cannot be more or less than its liabilities and equity combined. This means: $\text{assets} = \text{liabilities} + \text{equity}$. This relation is called the accounting equation (statement called the balance sheet equation), and it applies to all organizations at all times.
