COVID-19: Impacts on Health and Health Systems Rais Akhtar,2025-09-27 COVID 19 devastated countries in both developed and developing countries Huge levels of mortality occurred in developed countries like USA UK France as well as in many developing countries like Brazil India South Africa Until April 13 2024 the world suffered with 704 753 890 infections and close to 7 010 681 deaths In the US alone 1 219 487 deaths were reported until April 13 2024 Prevalence of COVID 19 had caused a significant decline in the number of patients seeking routine health services related to communicable and cardiovascular diseases in almost all countries belonging to both developed and developing regions COVID 19 made a massive dent in the diagnostics sector with a steep fall in patient volumes since the beginning of 2020 The pandemic developed an haunting sense of fear among people which eventually impacted hospital clinic and lab visits Regular check ups became cumbersome stressful and time consuming Dr Anthony Fauci former advisor to former US President Joe Biden asserted that domestic policy failure and the lack of a public health infrastructure for handling an outbreak of such proportions has resulted such huge human loss The focus of this book is to take a close look at case studies from various countries and find the lessons learned including rise in mental illnesses and development of health care post COVID 19 to remain ready for any such pandemic in the future Microbial Strategies for Crop Improvement Mohammad Saghir Khan,Almas Zaidi,Javed Musarrat,2009-08-25 With an ever increasing human population the demand placed upon the agriculture sector to supply more food is one of the greatest challenges for the agrarian community In order to meet this challenge environmentally unfriendly agrochemicals have played a key role in the green revolution and are even today commonly recommended to circumvent nutrient deficiencies of the soils. The use of agrochemicals is though a major factor for improvement of plant production it causes a profound deteriorating effect on soil health, soil fertility and in turn negatively affects the productivity and sustainability of crops. Concern over disturbance to the microbial diversity and consequently soil fertility as these microbes are involved in biogeochemical processes as well as economic constraints have prompted fundamental and applied research to look for new agrobiotechnologies that can ensure competitive yields by providing sufficiently not only essential nutrients to the plants but also help to protect the health of soils by mitigating the toxic effects of certain pollutants. In this regard the role of naturally abundant yet functionally fully unexplored microorganisms such as biofertilizers assume a special significance in the context of supplementing plant nutrients cost and environmental impact under both conventional practices and derelict environments. Therefore current developments in sustainability involve a rational exploitation of soil microbial communities and the use of inexpensive though less bioavailable sources of plant nutrients which may be made available to plants by microbially mediated processes.
