

Membrane Structure

What molecules make up a membrane?

Why?

Imagine your bedroom without closets, drawers, shelves, bags or boxes—just a room with a bed. Where would your stuff be? Would you be able to find the things you needed? How efficiently could you get ready for school in the morning? Would all of your school items be together when you sat down to study? The compartments you use in your room—the closet, drawers, etc.—help you organize items by category so that all the items you need to get dressed are in one place. All the items you need for studying are in another place. This compartmentalization improves efficiency. Cells also need organization to improve efficiency. The compartmentalization of cells is achieved by dividing up areas in the cell with membranes. A plasma membrane compartmentalizes internal structures while the cell membrane acts as a boundary between the cell and the external environment.

Model 1 – Phospholipids

1. Consider the term phospholipid.
 - a. What portion of the molecule in Model 1 is responsible for the “phospho-” part of the name?
Phosphorus function group and glycerol
 - b. What portion of the molecule in Model 1 is responsible for the “-lipid” part of the name?
The fatty and acid chain
2. Part of a phospholipid is polar. Click on the molecule picture in Model 1 to edit
 - a. Circle the portion of the molecule in Model 1 that is polar.
 - b. Would this portion of the phospholipid mix well with water? Explain your reasoning.
Yes because its polar and can dissolve in water.
3. Part of a phospholipid is nonpolar. Click on the molecule picture in Model 1 to edit

Concepts of Membrane Structure Ronald Aloia, 2012-12-02. Membrane Fluidity in Biology Volume 1. Concepts of Membrane Structure covers membrane properties influenced by alterations in membrane lipid compositions and other organizational parameters that are encompassed by the term fluidity. This book is composed of eight chapters that discuss significance of fluidity changes in both normal and pathological cellular functions. This book starts by describing membrane structural organization and composition and arrangement of the molecular components of cell membranes. This is followed by discussions on structural properties of lipids and role of nonbilayer lipid structures in membrane fusion. The methodological approaches in study of cellular membrane structural diversity and fluid mosaic model for accurate representation of membrane fluidity are also discussed. This volume then describes the phenomenon of reversed or negative membrane images as viewed with transmission electron microscope. Chapters 6 and 7 explain the interaction of cytochrome P 450 with phospholipids and proteins in the endoplasmic reticulum and steps in the derivation of membrane structure and packing principles. Finally, the concluding chapter focuses on the membrane of the human red blood cell and presents relatively simple arguments concerning its physical properties. The book will serve as a primary source for research scientists and teachers interested in cellular membrane fluidity phenomena
