Learning in Primary CLIL Fay Chen, 2025-03-04 Chen proposes a disciplinary literacy DL approach to Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL planning and teaching in her book in answer to concerns expressed by some about the growth of CLIL internationally in recent decades The concerns regarding CLIL schools circle around the feasibility of the policy particularly regarding the challenges of teaching and learning new subject content in an additional language in primary education In response the author tackles the fundamental questions surrounding CLIL implementation with a focus on fostering deeper learning using examples from the Taiwanese context The chapters delve into the key planning issues in primary education CLIL and explore the language teaching awareness of CLIL teachers in various subject areas In addition to proposing a DL approach the book also discusses the necessity for teachers awareness of subject specific literacies in curriculum planning highlighting the importance of scaffolding primary students to achieve deeper learning in CLIL classrooms As a whole Chen stimulates discourse and research in CLIL planning and teaching thereby informing CLIL teacher education This book is an essential read for researchers and research students interested in deeper learning and bilingual and multilingual education programs It is also a viable resource for teacher educators and teachers who teach in multilingual programs and primary education Somebody Should Do Something Michael Brownstein, Alex Madva, Daniel Kelly, 2025-09-16 A novel and scientific approach to creating transformative social change and the surprising ways that each of us can help make a real difference Changing the world is difficult One reason is that the most important problems like climate change racism and poverty are structural They emerge from our collective practices laws economies history culture norms and built environments The dilemma is that there is no way to make structural change without individual people making different more structure facing decisions In Somebody Should Do Something Michael Brownstein Alex Madva and Daniel Kelly show us how we can connect our personal choices to structural change and why individual choices matter though not in the way people usually think The authors paint a new picture of how social change happens arguing that our most powerful personal choices are those that springboard us into working together with others warehouse worker Chris Smalls's unionization at Amazon is one powerful example Taking inspiration from the writer Bill McKibben they stress how one important thing an individual can do is be somewhat less of an individual Organized into three main parts the book first diagnoses the problem of either or thinking about social change which stems from the false choice of making better personal choices or changing the system Then it offers a different way to think about social change anchored in a new picture of human nature emerging across the social sciences Finally the authors explore ways of putting this picture into practice Neither a how to manual nor an activist s guide Somebody Should Do Something pairs stories with science plus some jokes to help readers recognize their own power turning resignation about climate change and racial injustice into actions that transform the world
