

ICOM INSTRUCTIONS

DESKTOP MICROPHONE

SM-30

Thank you for purchasing the SM-30 desktop microphone. This is a unidirectional, electret microphone designed for base station operation with an Icom transceiver.

Please read these instructions thoroughly before using the microphone.

PRECAUTIONS

CAUTION: NEVER expose the microphone to rain, snow or any liquids.

CAUTION: NEVER let metal, wire, etc. touch any internal part of the microphone.

CAUTION: NEVER touch or operate the desktop microphone with wet hands.

DO NOT place the microphone in excessively dusty environments or in direct sunlight.

DO NOT use harsh solvents such as benzene or alcohol to clean the microphone, as they can damage the microphone's surfaces.

Place the microphone in a secure place to avoid inadvertent use by children.

This microphone is for the specified Icom transceivers only! — The microphone cannot be used with a non-Icom transceiver since the power is supplied from the connected transceiver.

Connecting Museums Mark O'Neill, Glenn Hooper, 2019-10-16 Connecting Museums explores the boundaries of museums and how external relationships are affected by internal commitments structures and traditions Focusing on museums relationship with health inclusion and community the book provides a detailed assessment of the alliances between museums and other stakeholders in recent years With contributions from practitioners and established and early career academics this volume explore the ideas and practices through which museums are seeking to move beyond what might be called one off contributions to society to reach places where the museum is dynamic and facilitates self generation and renewal where it can become not just a provider of a cultural service but an active participant in the rehabilitation of social trust and democratic participation The contributors to this volume provide conceptual critiques and clarification of a number of key ideas which form the basis of the ethics of museum legitimacy as well as a number of reports from the front line about the experience of trying to renew museums as more valuable and more relevant institutions Providing internal and external perspectives Connecting Museums presents a mix of applied and theoretical understandings of the changing roles of museums today As such the book should be of interest to academics researchers and students working in the broad fields of museum and heritage studies material culture and arts and museum management

Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1975 CAA2014: 21st Century Archaeology F.

Giligny, F. Djindjian, L. Costa, 2015-03-31 This volume brings together a selection of papers proposed for the Proceedings of the 42nd Computer Applications and Quantitative Methods in Archaeology conference CAA hosted at Paris 1 Pantheon Sorbonne University from 22nd to 25th April 2014 A Guide to the Preventive Conservation of Photograph Collections

Bertrand Lavédrine, 2003 A resource for the photographic conservator conservation scientist curator as well as professional collector this volume synthesizes both the masses of research that has been completed to date and the international standards that have been established on the subject The Archaeologist's Manual for Conservation Bradley A.

Rodgers, 2007-05-08 This is a Foreword by an archaeologist not a conservator but as Brad Rodgers says Conservation has been steadily pulled from archaeology by the forces of specialization p 3 and he wants to remedy that situation through this manual He sees this work as a call to action for the non professional conservator permitting curators conservators and archaeologists to identify artifacts that need professional attention and allow these professionals to stabilize most artifacts in their own laboratories with minimal intervention using simple non toxic procedures p 5 It is the mission of Brad's manual to bring conservation back into archaeology p 6 The degree of success of that goal depends on the degree to which archaeologists pay attention to and put to use what Brad has to say because as he says The conservationist archaeologist is responsible to make preparation for an artifact's care even before it is excavated and after its storage into the foreseeable future a tremendous responsibility p 10 The manual is a combination of highly technical as well as common sense methods of conserving wood iron and other metals ceramics glass and stone organics and composites a far better guide to artifact conservation than was available to me when I first faced that archaeological challenge at colonial Brunswick Town North Carolina in 1958 a challenge still being faced by archaeologists today The stage of conservation in 1958 is in dramatic contrast to the procedures Brad describes in this manual conservation has indeed made great progress For instance a common procedure then was to heat the artifacts red hot in a furnace a method that made me cringe Disaster

Management in Archives, Libraries and Museums Graham Matthews, Yvonne Smith, 2016-12-05 This important book assesses the current state of disaster management in archives libraries and museums in the UK and around the world and provides recommendations for addressing current and future threats Following an introductory outline of the topic and terminology the authors provide a short history of the development of disaster management in the cultural heritage sector They illustrate a basic framework for effective disaster management by reviewing disaster control plan practice from around the world Through examining and identify the key issues affecting disaster management in archives libraries and museums the authors discuss a priority structure for future implementation This book will be key reading for scholars and students of archive studies library and information and museum management It will also be extremely useful for professionals and policy makers involved in disaster management planning at a local and national level Willing's Press Guide and Advertisers'

Directory and Handbook, 2003 Interface Age, 1981-07 Conservation Skills Chris Caple, 2012-11-12

Conservation Skills provides an overview of the issues facing conservators of historic and artistic works It not only describes the nature of conservation but also provides an ethical framework to which the conservation of objects can be related Drawing on case studies of well known objects such as the body of Lindow Man and the Statue of Liberty it addresses the following issues perception judgement and learning reasons for preserving the past the nature and history of conservation conservation ethics recording investigating cleaning objects stabilisation and restoration preventive conservation decision making and responsibilities The Archaeologist's Laboratory Edward B. Banning, 2020-07-27 This second edition of the classic textbook The Archaeologist's Laboratory is a substantially revised work that offers updated information on the archaeological work that follows fieldwork such as the processing and analysis of artifacts and other evidence An overarching theme of this edition is the quality and validity of archaeological arguments and the data we use to support them The book introduces many of the laboratory activities that archaeologists carry out and the ways we can present research results including graphs and artifact illustrations Part I introduces general topics concerning measurement error data quality research design typology probability and databases It also includes data presentation basic artifact conservation and laboratory safety Part II offers brief surveys of the analysis of lithics and ground stone pottery metal artifacts bone and shell artifacts animal and plant remains and sediments as well as dating by stratigraphy seriation and chronometric methods It concludes with a chapter on archaeological illustration and publication A new feature of the book is illustration of concepts through case studies from around the world and from the Palaeolithic to historical archaeology The text is appropriate for senior undergraduate students and will also serve as a useful reference for graduate students and professional archaeologists
