looking volume to train a new generation of clinicians in this important work Traumatic Brain Injury Robert P. Granacher, Jr., 2015-03-02 Traumatic Brain Injury Methods for Clinical and Forensic Neuropsychiatric Assessment Third Edition provides physicians and psychologists with a scientifically based schema for the clinical evaluation of traumatic brain injury TBI The book assists physicians and psychologists in developing treatment plans for patients who have sustained TBIs and also guides those providing forensic analysis to lawyers insurance bodies workers compensation systems triers of fact and other stakeholders in the adjudication of victims of TBI The procedures and recommendations in this book are grounded in highly referenced evidence based science but also come from more than 5000 cases wherein the author and contributors have personally examined individuals who have sustained a TBI or who claim to have sustained a TBI This edition has been entirely rewritten The style now follows a more traditional neuropsychiatric format than previous editions Since the last edition there has been increased awareness and scientific study regarding the effects of blast brain injury as a consequence of US military experiences in Afghanistan and Iraq There is also increased interest in the phenomenology of mild traumatic brain injury and in particular the forensic complications associated with evaluations of this disorder Chronic traumatic encephalopathy has also received significant scrutiny in the last decade possibly associated with sports injuries This book is a comprehensive resource for clinicians treating patients as well as for forensic specialists Its purpose remains the same as in prior editions to provide physicians or psychologists with a practical method for an effective evaluation of TBI based upon known scientific principles of brain behavior relationships and state of the art clinical neuroimaging neuropsychological and psychological techniques Mild Cognitive Impairment: Influencing Factors and Intervention Effects Ying Wang, Jin-Tai Yu, Xinyi Cao, Guillermo Felipe, López Sánchez, 2024-07-16 As the aging population degree is deepened cognitive impairment has become a globally recognized public health problem As an intermediate state from normal cognition NC to Alzheimer s disease AD mild cognitive impairment MCI has a highly variable cognitive trajectory which contains three outcomes 1 progression to AD and other types of dementia 2 Maintaining stability 3 Reversal to NC Reversal of cognitive function can be achieved by taking positive and effective measures Current studies mostly focus on factors affecting MCI to AD World Health Organization and Alzheimer s Disease International have also proposed relatively mature guidelines for risk factors However there are still some influencing factors that have not yet formed a unified conclusion In addition there are fewer studies and no consensus on the influencing factors for MCI to NC Current forms of intervention for MCI are mainly non pharmacological interventions and there is a lack of randomized controlled trials with larger sample sizes and longer intervention periods to confirm the effect of pharmacological and non pharmacological interventions The purpose of this study is to explore the factors that influence the transition from MCI to AD or NC in aging adults and to examine how the influencing factors make the cognitive function of aging adults with MCI deteriorate improve or even reverse to NC and how are their reversal rates This includes effective measures proven through pharmacological and non pharmacological intervention studies and their impact on reversal Influence factors include but are not limited to demographic factors age socioeconomic status education lifestyle smoking alcohol consumption physical activity nutrition social participation mental health depression loneliness diseases hypertension diabetes sleep disorders biological markers amyloid tau protein and pharmacological factors cholinesterase inhibitor A monoclonal antibodies drugs to rebalance the gut flora etc and submission of research results based on intervention trials is encouraged
