America's Shadow William V. Spanos, 2000 A study of imperialism that stretches from ancient Rome to the post Cold War World this provocative work boldly revises our assumptions about the genealogy of the West Rather than locating its source in classical Greece William V Spanos argues we should look to ancient Rome which first articulated the ideas that would become fundamental to the West's imperial project These founding ideas he claims have informed the American national identity and its foreign policy from its origins The Vietnam War is at the center of this book In the contradiction between the free world logic employed to justify U S intervention in Vietnam and the genocidal practices used to realize that logic Spanos finds the culmination of an imperialistic discourse reaching back to the colonizing rationale of the Roman Empire Spanos identifies the language of expansion in the white metaphors in Western philosophical discourse since the colonization of Greek thought by the Romans He shows how these metaphors and their role in metaphysical discourse have long been complicit in the violence of imperialism

Writing Alfred Bendixen, Judith Hamera, 2009-01-29 Travel writing has always been intimately linked with the construction of American identity. Occupying the space between fact and fiction, it exposes cultural fault lines and reveals the changing desires and anxieties of both the traveller and the reading public. These specially commissioned essays trace the journeys taken by writers from the pre-revolutionary period right up to the present. They examine a wide range of responses to the problems posed by landscapes found both at home and abroad, from the Mississippi and the Southwest to Europe and the Holy Land. Throughout, the contributors focus on the role played by travel writing in the definition and formulation of national identity and consider the experiences of minority writers as well as canonical authors. This Companion forms an invaluable guide for students approaching this new, important and exciting subject for the first time. *Report of the ...
