American Cinema Maria Pramaggiore, 2012-02-01 Focusing on two film traditions not normally studied together Maria Pramaggiore examines more than two dozen Irish and African American films including Do the Right Thing In the Name of the Father The Crying Game Boyz n the Hood The Snapper and He Got Game arguing that these films foreground practices of character identification that complicate essentialist notions of national and racial identity The porous sense of self associated with moments of identification in these films offers a cinematic counterpart to W. E. B. Du Bois's potent concept of double consciousness an epistemological standpoint derived from experiences of colonization racialization and cultural disruption Characters in these films Pramaggiore suggests reject the national paradigm of insider and outsider in favor of diasporic both and notions of self thereby endorsing the postmodern concept of identity as performance Musical

Metropolis K. Marcus, 2004-12-16 Decentralization and diversity characterized much of the performance of art music in Los Angeles Decentralization defined the city's growth since the late nineteenth century and because the central city did not dominate music culture as in the East and Midwest a greater diversification of music emerged in the communities of Greater Los Angeles Performers and audiences included Latinos Euro-Americans Asian Americans and African Americans but the notion of diversity goes beyond ethnicity it also includes media diversity the presentation of music through a variety of media recording radio film media strongly influenced music performance in the city as it grew into the epicenter of entertainment in America Not For Tourists Guide to Los Angeles 2022
