Sheehan-Holt,2000 A study focused on researchers use of the English Language Background Questionnaire EBQ portion of the National Adult Literacy Survey NALS the results of which were released in 1993 Data were gathered by surveying NALS data users about how they have used the EBQ data their perspectives on the strengths and weaknesses of the EBQ and their recommendations for changes to the EBQ A content analysis was also conducted of published research papers that have involved analyses of the EBQ data to determine how the data were used in these research analyses The study also drew upon recommendations garnered by a series of focus groups conducted by the American Institutes for Research in 1998 These sources were integrated with the study's own analysis of the NALS data. The following changes to the EBQ for future adult literacy assessments were recommended: expand the questions pertaining to educational experiences; expand the section on social and political participation or move the current items to other areas and delete this section; add an item on voter registration; acquire more detailed information regarding work history, wages, and parents' occupations; expand the section pertaining to literacy practices and gather information on technological literacy practices. By drawing on archival analysis and six organizational case studies, the author empirically traces the emergence of a cyber cultural institution within higher education. As these case studies demonstrate, this new institutional logic requires creativity, individual recognition, and an underlying platform powered by cyber technologies and digitization of content. Using an analytical lens, this cyber cultural perspective answers many questions about why faculty refuse to adopt online education, why students struggle with mediated teaching, and what possibly could be done to take online education to its next level. The United States Catalog Mary Burnham, Carol Hurd, 1928 Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker, Staff, Staff Bowker, Ed, 2004
