Operational Analysis and Prediction of Ocean Wind Waves Madhav L. Khandekar, 2013-03-07 This monograph is an attempt to compile the present state of knowledge on ocean wave analysis and prediction The emphasis of the monograph is on the development of ocean wave analysis and prediction procedures and their utility for real time operations and applications Most of the material in the monograph is derived from journal articles research reports and recent conference proceedings some of the basic material is extracted from standard text books on physical oceanography and wind waves Ocean wave analysis and prediction is becoming an important activity in the meteorological and oceanographic services of many countries The present status of ocean wave prediction may be comparable to the status of numerical weather prediction of the mid sixties and early seventies when a number of weather prediction models were developed for research purposes many of which were later put into operational use by meteorological services of several countries The increased emphasis on sea state analysis and prediction has created a need for a ready reference material on various ocean wave analysis and modelling techniques and their utility The present monograph is aimed at fulfilling this need The monograph should prove useful to the ocean wave modelling community as well as to marine forecasters coastal engineers and offshore technologists The monograph could also be used for a senior undergraduate or a first year graduate level course in ocean wave modelling and marine meteorology and Fluxes G.L. Geernaert, W.J. Plant, 2013-11-11 During the Conference on Air Sea Interaction in January 1986 it was suggested to me by David Larner of Reidel Press that it may be timely for an updated compendium of air sea interaction theory to be organized developed and published Many new results were emerging at the time i e results from the MARSEN MASEX MILDEX and TOWARD field projects among others were in the process of being reported and or published Further a series of new experiments such as FASINEX and HEXOS were soon to be conducted in which new strides in our knowledge of air sea fluxes would be made During the year following the discussions with David Larner it became apparent that many of the advances in air sea interaction theory during the 1970s and 1980s were associated with sponsor investments in satellite oceanography and in particular remote sensing research Since ocean surface remote sensing e g scatterometry and SAR requires intimate knowledge of ocean surface dynamics advances in remote sensing capabilities required coordinated research in air sea fluxes wave state scattering theory sensor design and data exploitation using environmental models Based on this interplay of disciplines it was decided that this book be devoted to air sea interaction and remote sensing as multi
