

REFLECTION PAPER

Joining Bulano Accounting and Auditing Firm is one of the best experiences that I had in my college years. Through this firm, I didn't just spend time merely for compliance of the course but it has been an outlet for learning something new and a motivation to strive hard. All throughout the internship program, a lot of responsibilities was given to me from accounting to auditing. A greater knowledge of what accounting and auditing is all about was imparted to me.

The first day of my internship program was full of excitement. I was there with the hope of gaining knowledge that as I will step out of the firm when my OJT days will be over, I'll be a more confident woman when we speak of the accounting field. People around the firm are very approachable that I never had a hard time coping up with them. They were very hands on in guiding us interns. And the owner of the firm is a very down to earth person and I learned a lot from him. I learned that as a person, we should always keep our feet on the ground.

My expectations were not just met but were exceeded by my experiences. I already acquired skills in school but applying it to the field let me know more and more. I also learned to be more patient, objective and disciplined. Also, I learned to be considerate and to blend with workmates.

The whole journey of being an intern was a very wonderful experience. I have realized a lot of things like a full appreciation of how accounting world move. I am also grateful of this opportunity given by the university and the HTE. All of the things I learned are beyond my expectations so I am very thankful for all of it.

Handbook of Moral Motivation Karin Heinrichs, Fritz Oser, Terence Lovat, 2013-06-12 The Handbook of Moral Motivation offers a contemporary and comprehensive appraisal of the age old question about motivation to do the good and to prevent the bad From a research point of view this question remains open even though we present here a rich collection of new ideas and data Two sources helped the editors to frame the chapters first they looked at an overwhelmingly fruitful research tradition on motivation in general attribution theory performance theory self determination theory etc in relationship to morality The second source refers to the tension between moral judgment feelings beliefs and the real moral act in a twofold manner a as a necessary duty and b as a social but not necessary bond In addition the handbook utilizes the latest research from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives wishing to suggest by this that the answer to the posed question will likely not come from one discipline alone Furthermore our hope is that the implicit criticism that the narrowly constructed research approach of the recent past has contributed to closing off rather than opening up interdisciplinary lines of research becomes in this volume a strong counter discourse The editors and authors of the handbook commend the research contained within in the hope that it will contribute to better understanding of humanity as an inherently moral species

Reflective Teacher Education Linda Valli, 1992-09-01 An increasing number of educators are arguing for conceptually sound reflective or inquiry oriented teacher education programs The argument is based on the fact that reflective teaching is possible and the belief that teachers should develop habits of consciously informed action Those who promote reflective teaching argue for teacher empowerment within a self renewing profession Reflective Teacher Education offers case studies from seven universities that have organized teacher education programs around the concept of reflection The cases represent public and private institutions and alternative and traditional models of teacher preparation

The studies represent efforts to transform the entire professional education component rather than individual courses or isolated strategies. The volume also considers reflection as a conceptual orientation commenting on its power to inform and improve teacher education and assessing the implementation of reflection in these specific programs. The six critiques raise intriguing questions about the possibility and desirability of reflective reform efforts by viewing the cases from varying perspectives: development, cognitive, feminist, social reconstructionist, and post-modern.

To Want to Learn Jackson Kytle, 2012-07-17. Lack of learner motivation is the single greatest challenge before American schools and colleges. When students are self-motivated, they invest more and work harder at learning, even if resources are inadequate. Jackson Kytle's provocative book argues that students and teachers waste time and human energy because the conventional curriculum rests on flawed mental models. Hope for change requires a searching critique of modernity as well as expanded theories of human motivation and learning based on advances in neurobiology and cognitive studies. After consideration of existentialism and choice of life purposes and the dynamics of psychological involvement, Kytle closes his ambitious interdisciplinary book with ten considerations for better learning.

Praxis-oriented Pedagogy for Novice L2 Teachers Karen E. Johnson, Deryn P. Verity, Sharon S. Childs, 2022-11-30. In this cutting-edge book on L2 teacher education, experts Johnson, Verity, and Childs demonstrate how praxis-oriented pedagogy grounded in the principles of Vygotskian Sociocultural Theory (VSCT) can have a meaningful impact on L2 teachers' development. Starting with a clear definition of praxis-oriented pedagogy, the authors lay out a theoretical foundation and document how appropriately designed praxis-oriented L2 teacher education pedagogy supports the development of novice teacher reasoning. Drawing from a longitudinal study of L2 novice teachers, chapters address the teachers' understanding of learning and cognitive development and how their capabilities grow in creating and implementing engaging language learning environments for their ESL students. At the core of the book lies a unique set of pedagogical concepts: linguistically compact, conceptually rich chunks of language that function as psychological tools for learning and teaching. By covering teachers' changes in understanding, reasoning, and pedagogical activities, the book reveals the role that pedagogical concepts play in praxis-oriented pedagogy. Essential reading for language teacher educators, language teachers, and researchers, this book makes the VSCT principles that inform praxis-oriented pedagogy both clear and Preparing teachers to work in our nation's classrooms presents an array of challenges for teacher educators. Recently organizations such as the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACTE), the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), and the Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO) released reports calling for change supporting clinical teacher preparation and encouraging links between university faculty, clinical faculty, P-12 educators, and pre-service teachers. This book, as well as its companion text The Power of Clinical Preparation in Teacher Education: Embedding Teacher Preparation within P-12 School Contexts, responds to calls for change in teacher education. Sponsored by the Association of Teacher Educators (ATE) and its Commission on Clinically Based Teacher Preparation, the book includes program descriptions, theoretical frameworks, and research studies initiated in response to Dr. Nancy Zimpher's keynote speech at ATE's 2011 Annual Meeting. The Commission on Clinically Based Teacher Preparation set out to identify exemplary programs of teacher education, promising practices within those programs, and research related to the programs' clinical practices. This text represents the Commission's findings. Assessing Media Education William G.

A. van der Ven, 1998

The picture that pastors have of themselves and of their experiences in the ministry is ambivalent. On the one hand, they find the pastoral work which they perform meaningful, important, and relevant. On the other hand, pastors suffer from chronic stress of some sort caused by different factors on the micro meso and macro level of religion church and society Many pastors experience the modernization and subsequently the secularization process as a very serious problem which negatively influences religious life within the parish Pastors are bowed down by uncertainty over how their work contributes to the parish mission in today s society and even more so by doubts over what that mission is in particular the diaconal mission Which direction can shall should the pastor take if neither the church nor the theological institutions are able to provide him or her with a clear frame of reference an attractive perspective a convincing policy a plausible course of action and a meaningful set of aims goals and objectives There is no alternative but to risk taking responsibility for oneself and choosing one s own course of action To take this risk is not reckless or foolhardy as long as the choices are always informed by a religious self reflection that is open to tradition as well as to the future This allows the pastor to be his own guide to transgress useless customs and habits and cross the boundaries into as yet unknown territory The task of education must be to provide the foundation that enables the pastor to make those choices and take those risks in a well considered prudent and truly religious manner This study represents not only an interpretative description of some of the education for ministry in today s societal cultural and ecclesiastical context in the western world but also a proposal for a new model the reflective ministry model
