

Taking relationships to new heights

Technology infrastructure

When Boeing first commercially developed engines for new flight in 1988, it was still a relatively small company providing the propulsion. The 787 required a lot of work on how to integrate the engines and the technology infrastructure that would be needed to support the aircraft's operation. And the work was not done in isolation. Boeing's 787 Dreamliner is a truly global aircraft, with parts and components sourced from over 40 countries. From 1988 to now, Boeing's Dreamliner has been a truly global aircraft, with parts and components sourced from over 40 countries.
