King John Annotated English Edition:

King John William Shakespeare, 2021-04-30 King John of England indignantly rejects the message of the French envoy Chatillon that Philip king of France has decided to support the claim of young Prince Arthur the son of John's deceased older brother Geoffrey for the throne of England At the same time the Faulconbridge brothers bring their domestic quarrel to the king's court Philip identified throughout the play as the Bastard complains that his younger brother Richard has claimed his lands Philip decides however to surrender his claim and to seek success on his own initiative after acknowledging that he is the son of the late King Richard I John's brother Embarrassed Philip's elderly mother admits that Richard was indeed his father At the French court King Philip of France and the duke of Austria vow to fight on behalf of Arthur's claim while Arthur in exchange for their military support is willing to forgive Austria for having killed his uncle King Richard Chatillon reports that the English forces are marching to Angiers led by John who has brought along his formidable mother Eleanor of Aquitaine as well as the Bastard John enters to demand that France support his right to the English throne but King Philip upholds Arthur's claim

The Complete King John Donald Richardson, 2016-05-17 King John is quite problematic As the ending is not a satisfying resolution the audience is left without a sense of completion It appears everything is left up in the air unlike the satisfying endings of Lear Macbeth or even Hamlet in all of which it is clear that the world will go on despite the tragic events which transpired before The ending rushes not to closure as some have suggested but to another threshold thus reinforcing the plays overall fluid mutable temper Curren Aquino 266 wants him to hand over the crown ASAP to John's young nephew Arthur who probably should have become king when Richard I died. King John is all fat, chance is on the rightful king. Prepare for war. He sends the French messenger packing. King John slaps his army together and sails to France for a big showdown with King Philip's forces outside the walls of Angers. The two kings try to negotiate but get nowhere fast so the English and French armies go to war. The battle is a draw. Finally the citizens of Angers come up with a better plan. King John's niece Blanche should marry King Philip's son Louis, creating an alliance between the two kingdoms. Yay! Problem solved. Just after Blanche and Louis exchange vows and smash wedding cake into each other's faces, Cardinal Pandolf shows up on a mission from the Pope. The Journal of Education, 1892
