Matriculants Exam Timetable:

Advances in Communication Systems and Electrical Engineering He Huang, Yuh-Shyan Chen, 2008-02-02 This volume contains contributions from participants in the 2007 International Multiconference of Engineers and Computer Scientists. It covers a variety of subjects in the frontiers of intelligent systems and computer engineering and their industrial applications. The book reflects the tremendous advances in communication systems and electrical engineering. The book provides an excellent reference work for researchers and graduate students working in the field. The Universal tutor London gen. corresp. coll, 1894 Schools Making a Difference Martin Thrupp, 1999-05-16 Does an effective school really come about through the actions of teachers and school leaders or does it also require an advantaged student intake? This question reflects a longstanding research debate about whether or not the social class mix of a school's student intake has much effect on individual achievement. Schools Making a Difference: Let's Be Realistic presents new evidence which suggests that school mix is likely to be important because of the way many school processes are deeply influenced by student intake characteristics. Low socioeconomic schools face numerous intake-related constraints which make them highly resistant to improvement efforts. By suggesting that failing schools are often overwhelmed rather than ineffective, this book provides a sympathetic reappraisal of the performance of teachers and school leaders in such schools. It also offers a critical response to the often unrealistic claims of the school effectiveness and school improvement movement and a fresh critique of market reforms in education. New Scientist, 1993 Web-Based Education Anil Aggarwal, 2003-01-01 A range of investigative problem-solving articles pertaining to current developments in educational systems: this collection draws from faculty experiences gained while implementing and utilizing a combination of telecommunications and web-enabled technologies. Addressing trends and issues and exploring the opportunities and problems confronting colleges and universities related to this relatively new practice, the articles present numerous academic perspectives and provide concepts for effectively utilizing and managing web-based education in a teaching environment. Proving recognizable competition to traditional university education, many public and private colleges and universities are facing the challenges and opportunities offered by this new technology-based concept. Discussing the successes and failures of the early adopters and including issues relating to peer-to-peer networks, e-course management and MIS needs, this book attempts to move from questions concerning what to issues relating to how. Citizenship Education in a Divided Society Elizabeth Anderson Worden, 2022-12-30 This book examines the possibilities and realities of promoting citizenship, peace and reconciliation through schooling in divided and post-conflict societies. With specific attention to the case of Northern Ireland and the Local and Global Citizenship (LGC) initiative, the book investigates the faltering progress to develop and teach school curricula aimed at promoting citizenship as well as peace, tolerance and mutual understanding. Following an overview of the scholarship on citizenship education, the author provides a broad social and political historical context within which to understand the educational reforms and changes that have taken place in Northern Ireland highlighting various education initiatives of the 1970s 1980s and 1990s that sought to foster understanding of the other and promote reconciliation The book's focus then shifts to the implementation of LGC which began in 2007 Despite initially strong political support and a considerable investment in terms of financial and human resources LGC has had limited impact The book analyzes the obstacles impeding its success which include marginalization within the curriculum and competing conceptions of the purpose of education A concluding chapter reflects upon what we can learn from LGC's implementation and highlights innovative recent initiatives to bring the young people of Northern Ireland together This book will appeal to scholars and students of education studies with interests in citizenship education peace studies educational policy and curricula and practice
