Dynamic Development Accounting and Relative Income Traps Patrick A. Imam, Jonathan R. W. Temple, 2024-11 Previous research suggests that economy wide poverty traps are rarely observed in the data In this paper we explore a related hypothesis low income countries rarely improve their position relative to the US Using finite state Markov chains we show that upwards mobility is indeed limited Since capital output ratios are similar across countries and human capital is also converging the persistence of low relative income seems to originate in the persistence of low relative TFP We study the dynamics of relative TFP and how they interact with absolute levels of human capital casting new light on the future of convergence

Accounting for Colonialism Richard F. America, 2024-01-17 This book examines qualitatively and quantitatively the exploitation of Africa through six centuries of colonialism and imperialism The contributions build on previous qualitative analyses The chapters introduce new ways to measure some of the coerced income and wealth transfers to Europe and North America through systematic underpayments and overcharges This wealth was wrongfully accumulated using many forms of their abuse of dominance The book provides estimates that will be helpful to understanding the growing debate on reparations This also contributes to rethinking international development assistance policy It helps establish a basis for improved estimates of the gains from past and current practices that worked against African economic social and political institutions and systems This edited volume showcases a variety of scholars with diverse perspectives and establishes for the first time the extent of wrongful benefits and damages from 600 years of international harm to the African continent
