Mark Scheme

Notice to markers.

This mark scheme should be used in conjunction with the NCUK Marking Guidelines, available from the secure area (Web File Manager) of the NCUK website (<http://www.ncuk.ac.uk>). Contact your Principal/ Academic Manager if you do not have login details.

NB – Credit should be awarded for any pertinent answers not included in the mark scheme, not exceeding the total mark allowed for the question.

If a student has answered more than the required number of questions, credit should only be given for the first n answers, in the order that they are written in the student's answer booklet (n being the number of questions required for the examination). Markers should not select answers based on the combination that will give the student the highest mark. If a student has crossed out an answer, it should be disregarded.

Error Carried Forward:

Whenever a question asks the student to calculate-or otherwise produce-a piece of information that is to be used later in the question, the marker should consider the possibility of error carried forward (ECF). When a student has made an error in deriving a value or other information, provided that the student correctly applies the method in subsequent parts of the question, the student should be awarded the Method marks for the part question. The student should never be awarded the Accuracy marks.

When this happens, write ECF next to the ticks.

Philippe Legrain

June 2013 S1 Mark Scheme International:

Cerambycidae of the World Qiao Wang, 2017-01-06 Wang has gathered contributions from an impressive cohort of the world's most respected experts on longhorned beetles. Chapters review both basics of cerambycid taxonomy, morphology and behavior, feeding, reproduction and chemical ecology as well as more applied concerns such as laboratory rearing, pest control and bio security. Overall, this volume is a valuable contribution to the literature as a one stop shop for readers seeking a comprehensive overview of longhorned beetles. It represents a tremendous effort on the part of Wang and the authors and has resulted in a much needed update to the literature. This volume is the only work of its kind available at this time and is a valuable addition to the library of any scientist studying wood boring beetles. Ann M Ray Biology Xavier University Cincinnati Ohio. In The Quarterly Review of Biology Volume 94 2019. There are more than 36 000 described species in the family Cerambycidae in the world. With the significant increase of international trade in the recent decades, many cerambycid species have become major plant pests outside their natural distribution range, causing serious environmental problems at great cost. Cerambycid pests of field, vine and tree crops and of forest and urban trees cost billions of dollars in production losses, damage to landscapes and management expenditures worldwide. Cerambycidae of the World: Biology and Pest Management is the first comprehensive text dealing with all aspects of cerambycid beetles in a global context. It presents our current knowledge on the biology, classification, ecology, plant disease transmission and biological, cultural and chemical control tactics, including biosecurity measures from across the world. Written by a team of global experts, this book provides an entrance to the scientific literature on Cerambycidae for scientists in research institutions, primary industries and universities and will serve as an essential reference for agricultural and quarantine professionals in governmental departments throughout the world.

Them and Us Philippe Legrain, 2020-10-15 Winner of the Diversity Inclusion and Equality Award at the Business Book Awards 2021. Underpinned by scholarship, entertaining. Legrain's book fizzles with practical ideas. The Economist. The beauty of diversity is that innovation often comes about by serendipity. As Scott Page observed one day in 1904 at the World Fair in St Louis, the ice cream vendor ran out of cups. Ernest Hami, a Syrian waffle vendor in the booth next door, rolled up some waffles to make cones, and the rest is history. Filled with data, anecdotes and optimism, Them and Us is an endorsement of cultural differences at a time of acute national introspection. By every measure, from productivity to new perspectives, immigrants bring something beneficial to society. If patriotism means wanting the best for your country, we should be welcoming immigrants with open arms.

establishment of statewide extension systems was once seen as a way to ensure that Land Grant Universities would be accessible and responsive to all of a state's residents. Extension systems continue to offer a front door to a major public university in almost every county of the United States but they tend to be viewed primarily as a way to translate science or distribute information from the university to the public. This book argues for the importance of Extension and shows that we are conceiving of this system too narrowly. Only by retelling the stories of the Extension and getting people to see themselves as part of the story can we imagine a different future in which state universities and land grant colleges engage more authentically and equitably in two-way relationships with their local constituents in catalyzing reciprocal co-learning relationships between Land Grant Universities and their diverse local constituencies.

The East European Economies in the 1970s Alec Nove, Hans-Hermann Höhmann, Gertraud Seidenstecher, 2013-10-22 The East European Economies in the 1970s reviews the development of economic policy in Eastern Europe in the 1970s. This book includes individual country studies that compare and contrast both the aims of economic development and the results of the growth process as well as the instruments employed in economic policy. More specifically, this book examines what has happened during the past decade after the fundamental changes in economic policy that occurred in the 1960s. This text is comprised of 10 chapters, the first of which provides a background on economic reform in Eastern Europe during the 1970s. Attention then turns to the economic policy methods and performance of the USSR after 1970. The chapters that follow focus on the German Democratic Republic, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, and Yugoslavia. This book concludes with a discussion on the economic system of Albania in the 1970s, focusing on the country's conservative radicalism, agriculture, and sharp disputes on economic policy between 1974 and 1976. Throughout the book, the emphasis is on how the process of reconstruction within the system has led to increasing differentiation of aims, institutions, and instruments of economic policy between individual countries. This book will be of interest to political science students, political scientists, political economists, and policy analysts.
