management strategy and Asia's role including that of Japan is important to improve global sustainability. This book addresses how sustainability management in the Asian context is currently practised and proposes practices for the future. Investigation of the effect of business domain characteristics on the integration of sustainability and management and elucidation of the process and features of EMCS Environmental Management Control System inside and outside of companies have been indicated. The book points that companies need to use and design Sustainability Management Control Systems in order to implement a CSR Corporate Social Responsibility strategy and match employees behavior to CSR activities. MFCA Material Flow Cost Accounting has started to expand rapidly into other Asian industries from Japan as a method of Environmental Management Control. The fundamental idea and procedure of MFCA and many case examples of Japanese MFCA have been reported. These findings help us to consider a policy for continuous use of MFCA. Moreover the relationship between Toyota Production System and MFCA has been explained and Material Flow Time Costing as a new management accounting concept is proposed. Based on the literature review the study has made recommendations for Asian companies strategic management and governmental policy making to improve both quality and quantity of sustainability disclosure in Asia. One of the papers has identified the development and implementation of social and environmental accounting by Indonesian state owned enterprises and their determining factors. In a Japanese manufacture the effect of smoothed production has been analyzed as an example of environmental management. This led to an increase in production quality without additional capital spending.

Recent interest in NbS has emphasized their importance for urban water management and cities across the world have begun to experiment with them. Experiences from different contexts however are not adequately captured and understood. This book aims to address this gap by compiling case studies and reviews that explore NbS for urban water management from different regions and perspectives and highlight emerging challenges and opportunities for harnessing their potential.
