It's important for me to catch some rays when I'm on holiday. I like to come home with a nice suntan. I don't really like having everything planned out on holiday. I prefer to see how the mood takes me and make decisions as I go.

Some places have been a bit of a culture shock and in others we really had to watch our backs, but we're very adventurous. We normally go backpacking or hitchhiking so we have to travel light, we only pack the essentials. We don't have much money so we always travel on a shoestring; we normally stay in hostels or sleep on peoples' sofas. We've

I'm a real culture vulture; I feel right at home in a museum, gallery or historical building. When I go on holiday I like to get up at the crack of dawn and really make the most of the time by going to as many places as possible. I always find time to savour the local delicacies or sit and watch the world go by in a fancy café with a good coffee and a guide book.

A. Johnson, 2025-04-17 What is a talisman to do when his human dies and he finds himself in the hands of someone she loved but he can't stand? Chip lived in Isabelle's pocket for 25 years. He was her talisman, that little voice in her head that gave her the courage to travel from the slopes of Kilimanjaro to the beaches of Southern France and beyond. When she's killed in a tragic accident, their magical bond unravels. Shared memories fade. Without his beloved human, Chip fears he'll become nothing but a silent lump of stone. Isabelle's niece Sara lives on the family farm under the strict control of her husband. Chip awakens one day to find he's been shipped to her in a box of Isabelle's belongings. Still grief-stricken, he's yearning for Isabelle's voice and only pays attention to Sara because she sneaks into one of Isabelle's journals to escape her own bleak existence. This isn't the life Isabelle would've wanted for Sara, but Chip isn't her talisman. He couldn't help, even if he wanted to, she can't hear him. Sharing Isabelle's words, however, might just give them both the strength they need to carry on. From the author of Trusting Bamboo Bridges comes Chipped, another poignant story of love, loss, and the struggle to find one's own path. Spectrums Maxfield Sparrow, 2020-09-21 This is an edited collection of human stories from trans autistic writers.
