Fire After Action Report:

After Action Report, 1 August 1944-9 May 1945, Volume II United States. Army. Army, 3rd, 1945 Vietnam War After Action Reports , Foundations of the After Action Review Process John E. Morrison, 1999 A Guide to Standardizing After Action Review (AAR) Aids Larry L. Meliza, 1998 Special Report: The Aftermath of Firefighter Fatality Incidents; Preparing For The Worst , I Served by Don C. Hall and Annette R. Hall, 2001-01-31 I SERVED was written differently from most other Vietnam memoirs. Instead of being a chronological recitation of my experiences growing up in the orphanage and then going to Vietnam and serving with Co F 51st Long Range Patrol Airborne Infantry, I made its focus be the characters in the story. That is its greatest strength and what makes it such a good read. Because I focused so closely on character, you really get to care about the person Don Hall because you know what makes him tick, what is important to him, and what drives him. You are also engaged by the other people you meet in the story because they are so clearly drawn. You don't have to be a military buff to enjoy the book. I SERVED is a factual story backed up by official U.S. Army records. Col William C. Maus, the man who formed F 51st LRP, told me where to find that documentation. I also have copies of handouts we received when we went to Recondo School. Before he died, he told me how much he enjoyed reading the book. He praised me for having written such a great story about a unit he was proud to have commanded. He was a visionary who knew our unit was the vanguard for future U.S. Army military strategy and tactics. I remember his telling me at the time that F 51st LRP was making history. Being just a naive 19-year-old staff sergeant, I didn't understand the significance of that statement. I do now. The current print and ebook versions of I SERVED are a second edition to the original 1994 hardbound edition with a revised preface and afterword, a new War Stories section with stories from other men with whom I served, and new photographs.

Evidence-Based Practice for Public Health Emergency Preparedness and Response National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on Evidence-Based Practices for Public Health Emergency Preparedness and Response, 2020-11-28. When communities face complex public health emergencies, state, local, tribal, and territorial public health agencies must make difficult decisions regarding how to effectively respond. The public health emergency preparedness and response (PHEPR) system, with its multifaceted mission to prevent, protect against, quickly respond to, and recover from public health emergencies, is inherently complex and encompasses policies, organizations, and programs. Since the events of September 11, 2001, the United States has invested billions of dollars and immeasurable amounts of human capital to develop and enhance public health emergency preparedness and infrastructure to respond to a wide range of public health threats, including infectious diseases, natural disasters, and chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear events. Despite the investments in research and the growing body of empirical literature on a range of preparedness and response capabilities and functions, there has been no national-level comprehensive review and grading of evidence for public health emergency preparedness and response practices comparable to those utilized in medicine and other public health fields Evidence Based Practice for Public Health Emergency Preparedness and Response reviews the state of the evidence on PHEPR practices and the improvements necessary to move the field forward and to strengthen the PHEPR system This publication evaluates PHEPR evidence to understand the balance of benefits and harms of PHEPR practices with a focus on four main areas of PHEPR engagement with and training of community based partners to improve the outcomes of at risk populations after public health emergencies activation of a public health emergency operations center communication of public health alerts and guidance to technical audiences during a public health emergency and implementation of quarantine to reduce the spread of contagious illness
