Finin, Steven Willmott, 2006-03-30

There is a growing interest in the use of ontologies for multi agent system applications On the one hand the agent paradigm is successfully employed in those applications where autonomous loosely coupled heterogeneous and distributed systems need to interoperate in order to achieve a common goal On the other hand ontologies have established themselves as a powerful tool to enable knowledge sharing and a growing number of applications have benefited from the use of ontologies as a means to achieve semantic interoperability among heterogeneous distributed systems In principle ontologies and agents are a match made in heaven that has failed to happen What makes a simple piece of software an agent is its ability to communicate in a social environment to make autonomous decisions and to be proactive on behalf of its user Communication ultimately depends on understanding the goals preferences and constraints posed by the user Autonomy is the ability to perform a task with little or no user intervention while proactiveness involves acting autonomously with no need for user prompting Communication but also autonomy and proactiveness depend on knowledge The ability to communicate depends on understanding the syntax terms and structure and the semantics of a language Ontologies provide the terms used to describe a domain and the semantics associated with them In addition ontologies are often complemented by some logical rules that constrain the meaning assigned to the terms These constraints are represented by inference rules that can be used by agents to perform the reasoning on which autonomy and proactiveness are based Nissan Pulsar, 1987 Gas Mileage Guide, 1984, 1983 Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1997 Nissan Pulsar NX Automobile Nissan Jidōsha Kabushiki Kaisha, 1983 Choices DeeVerné, 2023-08-24 My book of Vignettes highlights my life from a kid to a young woman Circumstances that molded me to be the unwavering person I am today Coming from a loving supportive protective and giving family to chosen obstacles Growing up I believed things are one way to find out it's a get in where you fit in type of world if you don't take control of your own destiny Go on this journey with me as I share memories to last a lifetime reservoirs of patience For Matt was diagnosed with bipolar type I when he was 17 years old and this has seen the best and worst of him Matt has been to Melbourne s most prestigious and therefore least useful universities and currently holds a Bachelor of Commerce Postgraduate Diploma in Political Studies a Graduate Diploma in Teaching and of course a Certificate IV in Mental Health Matt s passions include music movies and reading but in reality it is more bars pubs and French food with his Vietnamese wife Matt loves economics politics and sociology all with a pint or two and some Footscray grub
