Reworking Modernity Allan Pred, Michael Watts, 1992 Using both grand conceptualizations and grounded case studies Allan Pred and Michael Watts look at how people cope with and give meaning to capitalism and modernity in different times and places As capital accumulation has grown and taken new forms it has affected technology and labor relations which in turn have affected people s daily lives These changes have not always been either welcome or easy Pred and Watts focus on the symbolic discontent and cultural confrontations that accompany capitalism They depict people struggling over the meaning of change in their lives and over new relations of power Modernity is experienced differently in different times and places To illustrate this point Pred and Watts offer four case studies that range across time and space These studies remind us that there are multiple capitalisms and multiple reactions to capitalisms Watts begins with a study of a Muslim millenarian movement that arose alongside the Nigerian oil boom of the 1970s When a Muslim prophet and disenfranchised followers tried to create a distinctive community and identity they came into brutal conflict with state authorities Thousands died in the resulting oppression Watts s next case is less bloody at least in the short run He tell us what happened when technological change was introduced in rice production in West African peasant society Peasants were drawn into the world economy as contract farmers This changed work relations and affected everyday life in peasant households Families began to fight over who would work and under what conditions They struggled over gender indentity and property rights We move back in time and across space for ther third case study Pred discusses changes in the daily life of the Stockholm working class at the end of the nineteenth century He writes of the various forms their discontent took as they struggled with economic restructuring Even conflict over street names took on special meaning For the last case Pred takes us to a steel mill in California When a South Korean company became half owner of the mill there was money for modernization and the threat of layoffs was reduced But the workers remained unhappy They protested low wages unsafe conditions and unfair recruitment practices Their labor issues turned into issues of nationalism morality and identity All four case studies demonstrate the shock of modernity and how the resulting struggles affect daily life

Bonded Chris Dahi,2016-01-04 Adaeze a princess was born in a typical African traditional setting She was not actually born as she was cut out from her dead mother who was gored by a wounded antelope Adaeze had the mark of the gods on her body Kris was brought out quickly from his dead mother who died a highly traumatized woman He has the mark of the gods on him Therefore that these two must paths cross in the weaving loom of fate is inevitable for it is obvious that they are Bonded as twins in the spirit realm The purpose for their births and lives in a world where terrible spiritual entities demand the blood and death of twins for sacrifices where the blood lust has been unleashed in a terrible world war that has been fought and a second is looming Yet affairs of the heart cannot be overridden by these negative forces Bonded is a wild romance between traditional Africa with her deep culture and deeper belief system and post First and pre Second World War Europe with her modern ways religious and colonial escapades It is also an indepth expose into some hitherto unknown African traditional society and ways Firedrake Volume Two T.
