5. In bacteria, to what does "quorum sensing" refer?

Quorum sensing is a process of cell-cell communication that allows bacteria to share information about cell density and adjust gene expression accordingly. This process enables bacteria to express energetically expensive processes as a collective only when the impact of those processes on the environment or on a host will be maximized. In essence, when a bacterial population is small individual bacteria produce chemical signals that indicate to other bacteria that proliferation is necessary to increase overall population numbers.
