1. French-door foldholders are not difficult to make and are a great way to organize information. Here is how:
2. Cut an 8 1/2" x 11" sheet of paper.
3. Fold it in 2's.
4. Glue the back of the long, thin flap and paste it onto notebook or onto paper.
5. Label flaps with necessary information and materials corresponding information below the flaps.

*Give the Double French Door Example on the following page.

These two groups are the primary focus of the research. The study also includes a third group, the "control" group, which consists of individuals who are not affected by the disease. The study is designed to be a randomized, controlled trial, which is the gold standard for clinical research. The results of the study will be used to determine the effectiveness of the treatment and to guide the development of new therapies.
