Food Aid and Human Security Edward Clay, Olav Schram Stokke, 2013-01-11 Food aid is historically a major element of development aid to support longer term development and the primary response to help countries and peoples in crisis This examination of food aid focuses in particular on institutional questions The World Trade Organization and Food Security in West Africa Godwin S. Ichimi, 2024-06-25 This book explores the multilateral control of agro economic spaces in West African developing countries through international trade spearheaded by the World Trade Organization s Agreement on Agriculture Responding to growing food insecurity in the region Ichimi here examines the web of intricacies in this arrangement by discussing some of the main international trade policies directly and indirectly impacting on food security in West Africa and critically engaging with empirical praxis as well as the theoretical underpinnings vis a vis multilateral strategies adopted for the amelioration of the crisis In so doing he expose how multilateral trading agreements under the auspices of the World Trade Organization produce negative outcomes for the food security status of a large and growing population in West Africa privileging primary commodity production and export maintaining the preference for food imports and driving the pattern of agricultural investment towards an inexorable dependence of the sector on the dictates of the international market Climate Smart Agriculture for Future Food Security Sajid Faiz, Umair Ashraf, Kotb A. Attia, Rai Muhammad Amir, 2025-06-17 This contributed volume covers recent advancements in the development of climate resilient agriculturally important crops by focusing on climate change crop cultivation crop breeding and the application of novel biotechnological approaches in line with attaining second Sustainable Development Goal of zero hunger Climate smart agriculture is a concept aimed at transforming and reorienting agricultural production systems to ensure food security in the ever evolving situation of climate change Widespread alterations in rainfall and temperature patterns have threatened agricultural production and elevated the vulnerability of human dependency on agriculture for food feed and fiber Additionally global food demand is estimated to increase to feed the estimated global population of 9.7 billion by the year 2050 Climate change food and nutritional insecurity pose the greatest challenges for the farming community researchers the private sector civil society and policymakers to develop more sustainable solutions ensuring food security plant adaptability and the mitigation of adverse effects on sustainable food production systems This book will cover three pillars defined by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations for climate smart agriculture sustainable increase in agricultural production adaptation and plant resilience under climate change and mitigation of environmental degradation through intensive agricultural practices Furthermore the book also highlights technological innovations taking place across different disciplines of agriculture to cater to both biotic and abiotic factors in agronomically important crops This book serves as a useful resource documenting all recent developments made to achieve sustainable crop production It is an interesting read for master s and doctoral level students academics scientists and researchers in the field of agronomy and agricultural biotechnology Legumes for Global Food Security Jose C. Jimenez-Lopez, Karam B. Singh, Alfonso Clemente, Matthew Nicholas Nelson, Sergio J. Ochatt, Penelope Mary Collina Smith, 2020-08-12 The State of Food Security and Nutrition

in the World 2023 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, International Fund for Agricultural Development, United Nations Children's Fund, World Food Programme, World Health Organization, 2023-07-12 This report provides an update on global progress towards the targets of ending hunger SDG Target 2.1 and all forms of malnutrition SDG Target 2.2 and estimates on the number of people who are unable to afford a healthy diet Since its 2017 edition this report has repeatedly highlighted that the intensification and interaction of conflict climate extremes and economic slowdowns and downturns combined with highly unaffordable nutritious foods and growing inequality are pushing us off track to meet the SDG 2 targets However other important megatrends must also be factored into the analysis to fully understand the challenges and opportunities for meeting the SDG 2 targets One such megatrend and the focus of this year's report is urbanization New evidence shows that food purchases in some countries are no longer high only among urban households but also among rural households Consumption of highly processed foods is also increasing in peri urban and rural areas of some countries These changes are affecting people's food security and nutrition in ways that differ depending on where they live across the rural urban continuum This timely and relevant theme is aligned with the United Nations General Assembly endorsed New Urban Agenda and the report provides recommendations on the policies investments and actions needed to address the challenges of agrifood systems transformation under urbanization and to enable opportunities for ensuring access to affordable healthy diets for everyone Ensuring A Square Meal: Women And Food Security In Southeast Asia Theresa W Devasahayam, 2018-08-21 Research on women and food security in Southeast Asia has been limited The collection of chapters in Ensuring a Square Meal Women and Food Security in Southeast Asia is one of the first attempts at providing a lens into the linkages between women and food security at the household community national and transnational levels More broadly the chapters examine women's contribution in households resource distribution to produce food and the purchasing power to buy food In analysing the various facets of food security in relation to gender the analyses focus on the meanings of private and public and the extent to which the effects of the two spheres spill over into each other Given women's critical role in food production and provision the book assesses the structural forces enabling women to access productive resources and in turn ensure sustainable strategies for food security as well as it evaluates how governments might address the constraints women face in this vital role Food Security Governance Nora McKeon, 2014-12-17 This book fills a gap in the literature by setting food security in the context of evolving global food governance Today's food system generates hunger alongside of food waste burgeoning health problems massive greenhouse gas emissions Applying food system analysis to review how the international community has addressed food issues since World War II this book proceeds to explain how actors link up in corporate global food chains and in the local food systems that feed most of the world's population It unpacks relevant paradigms from productivism to food sovereignty and highlights the significance of adopting a rights based approach to solving food problems The author describes how communities around the world are protecting their access to resources and building better ways of producing and accessing food and discusses the reformed Committee on World Food Security a uniquely inclusive global policy forum and how it could be supportive of efforts from the base The book concludes by identifying terrains on which work is needed to adapt the practice of the democratic public sphere and accountable governance to a global dimension and extend its authority to the world of markets and corporations This book will be of interest to students of food security global governance development studies and critical security studies in general
