Psychological Assessment in South

Africa Sumaya Laher, Kate Cockcroft, 2013-01-01 This book provides an overview of the research related to psychological assessment across South Africa. The thirty six chapters provide a combination of psychometric theory and practical assessment applications in order to combine the currently disparate research that has been conducted locally in this field. Existing South African texts on psychological assessment are predominantly academic textbooks that explain psychometric theory and provide brief descriptions of a few testing instruments. Psychological Assessment in South Africa provides in depth coverage of a range of areas within the broad field of psychological assessment including research conducted with various psychological instruments. The chapters critically interrogate the current Eurocentric and Western cultural hegemonic practices that dominate the field of psychological assessment. The book therefore has the potential to function both as an academic text for graduate students as well as a specialist resource for professionals including psychologists, psychometrists, remedial teachers and human resource practitioners. Topics discussed include problems with traditional assessment methods, rationales behind different kinds of innovation in assessment, complex assessment contexts in which teachers attempt to innovate, innovation in assessment within a range of academic settings, theoretical and empirical support for innovations within higher education.
