General Hospitals Nurse Training Intake:

Rozelle Hospital Edward H. Moxon, 2024-11-29 In the 1960s psychiatry was entering a new phase of its development. However many people were uncomfortable with these changes and fought against what they saw as apostasy, dangerous and unprofessional decisions by the bureaucracy. The role of Nurses before 1960 was task oriented to control behaviour, give somatic treatments when ordered and provide the daily personal needs of their patients, a custodial model. Since 1960 the nursing profession, ancillary staff and Doctors have been forced to reassess their traditional involvement and develop new skills. All previous somatic treatments were abandoned or rarely used in mainstream psychiatry. The only tools left for nurses were consciously using self in a therapeutic relationship, communicating, sharing, developing empathy and compassion and helping the patient gain insight, self awareness and problem solving skills. No longer were the staff seen as the boss demanding obedience. Nurses had to learn how to work in alternative environments: halfway houses, day clinics, community clinics, night hospitals, acute units, work with mixed sexes and learn new skills through family therapy, TA, cognitive behaviour modification, encounter groups, gestalt therapy, reality therapy and a therapeutic community and adapt to different age and cultural groups. Management of wards and staff presented a challenge to administrators. In patients attained much more freedom and self government with these developments. The hierarchy was flatter, industrial democracy was expected and workers had to cope with changing organisational structures. Government decision making was a constant source of conflict. A new approach to management emerged: trust replaced control and self government replaced regimentation. Where were all these developments leading? What of the future? Volume Two explores the sequel and exposes the intrigues, promises, hypocrisy, lies, neglect, social engineering and the fate of long term residents and people with acute psychiatric episodes. Current List of Medical Literature, 1951. Ministry of Health, 1967. A Documentary History of Public Health in Hong Kong Yip Ka-che, Wong Man Kong, Leung Yuen Sang, 2018-11-30. This book tells the fascinating story of the development of medical and sanitation services in Hong Kong during the first century of British rule and how changing political values and directions of the colonial administration and the socio economic status of the Hong Kong affected the policies of development in these areas. It also recounts how the bubonic plague of 1894 changed the government's laissez faire attitude towards sanitation and public health and began sanitary reforms and developed public health infrastructure. Routledge International Handbook of Nurse Education Sue Dyson, Margaret McAllister, 2019-11-26. While vast numbers of nurses across the globe contribute in all areas of healthcare delivery from primary care to acute and long term care in community settings, there are significant differences in how they are educated as well as the precise nature of their practice. This comprehensive handbook provides a research informed and international perspective on the critical issues in contemporary nurse education. As an applied discipline, nursing is implemented differently depending on the social political and cultural climate in any given context These factors impact on education as much as on practice and are reflected in debates around the value of accredited programmes and on the job training apprenticeship undergraduate and postgraduate pathways into nursing Engaging with these debates amongst others the authors collected here discuss how through careful design and delivery of nursing curricula nurses can be prepared to understand complex care processes complex healthcare technologies complex patient needs and responses to therapeutic interventions and complex organizations The book discusses historical perspectives on how nurses should be educated contemporary issues facing educators teaching and learning strategies the politics of nurse education education for advanced nursing practice global approaches and educating for the future Bringing together leading authorities from across the world to reflect on past present and future approaches to nurse education and nursing pedagogy this handbook provides a cutting edge overview for all educators researchers and policy makers concerned with nurse education
