

1. CHINA'S NATIONAL CAP ON COAL USAGE

- ▶ China has had a Draconian anti-pollution measure since 2013 when it introduced a set of prohibitions called the National Action Plan on Air Pollution which included the nationwide cap on coal usage.
- ▶ When coal is burned to generate electricity, it gives off nitrogen oxides, sulphur dioxide and Particulate Matter (PM).
- ▶ PM2.5 are the smallest polluting particles that pose great health risks that can include lung and heart diseases.
- ▶ Concentrations of PM2.5 in Beijing dropped by 54% from October to December of 2017 compared to during October to December of 2016.
- ▶ Concentrations of PM2.5 in 26 cities across northern China were also a third lower than the previous year.
- ▶ However, command-and-control measures proved more effective as seen when the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) switched from heavy industry and infrastructure towards service as of 2013-2016.
- ▶ When infrastructure spending increased in 2016, the national levels of PM2.5 dropped by only 4.5%.
- ▶ This shows that although the measures placed in China may be effective, when China increases their infrastructure spending, the policy is only effective to a small extent.
- ▶ The government should thus come up with another policy that can help improve the effectiveness of this Draconian anti-pollution measure even when building infrastructure.

2. PARIS CLIMATE ACCORDS BY THE UNITED NATIONS FRAMEWORK CONVENTION ON CLIMATE CHANGE (UNFCCC)

- ▶ This Accord deals with greenhouse gas emissions mitigations, adaptation, and finances that will take place in the year 2020.
- ▶ It was negotiated by representatives of 196 parties at the 21st conference of the UNFCCC.
- ▶ 195 UNFCCC members have signed the Paris Agreement as of May 2018.
- ▶ The agreement aims at a long-term goal of keeping the increase in the global average temperature to well within 2% above the pre-industrial levels and to aim to limit the increase to 1.5% since this would significantly reduce the risks and the impacts of climate change.
- ▶ However, US president Donald Trump announced his intention to withdraw the United States from the agreement in June 2017.

Parliament. House of Commons. Children, Schools and Families Committee, Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Children, Schools and Families Committee, 2009 The Committee for Children Schools and Families recommends major changes to the nature and management of the national curriculum In its current form the national curriculum essentially accounts for all the available teaching time and the Committee would like to see a cap placed so that less than half that time is prescribed centrally A slimmed down national curriculum designed much more from the learner's perspective setting out the learning that they have a right to access is recommended Parents should be provided with a copy of the national curriculum so that they can take on a greater role in overseeing the curriculum that their child experiences The Committee is not convinced by the proposed Programmes of Study for the primary curriculum put forward in the interim report of the Rose Review available at <http://publications.teachernet.gov.uk> which seem unnecessarily complex takes a similar view on the new secondary curriculum and is concerned at some of the Early Learning Goals specified in the Early Years Foundation Stage there should be more emphasis at this stage on developing speaking listening and social skills All schools should have the freedoms in curriculum matters enjoyed by Academies and should not be pressured to follow the non statutory National Strategies guidance The report also stresses the importance of empowering professional teachers rather than the current approach of prescription and direction The coherence and continuity in the curriculum is another concern with a history of piecemeal creation and amendment to frameworks from 0 to 19 The Committee recommends an independent curriculum authority be established to review and then keep the curriculum refreshed Teaching Chemistry Around the World Björn Risch, 2010 As teachers we often tend to expect other countries to teach chemistry in much the same way as we do but educational systems differ widely At Bielefeld University we started a project to analyse the approach to chemical education in different countries from all over the world Teaching Chemistry around the World 25 countries have participated in the project The resulting country studies are presented in this book This book may be seen as a contribution to make the structure of chemistry teaching in numerous countries more transparent and to facilitate communication between these countries Especially in the case of the school subject chemistry which is very unpopular on the one hand and occupies an exceptional position on the other hand due to its relevance to jobs and everyday life and most notably due to its importance for innovation capacity and problem solving we have to learn from each others educational systems Culture and the Grammar School Harry Davies, 2017-04-28 This book first published in 1965 discusses the nature of the grammar school its curriculum and teaching methods comparisons with sixth form education and the change in its organisation and attitudes during a time of rapid social change in 1960s Britain This title will be of interest to students of history sociology and education Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2010-01-25 Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboah, 2006-05-26 CUET
