

MODE ET MODES DE VIE

GEORGES BRASSENS

Il disait des gros mots, marmonnait des gaillardises et malmenait les convenances de tous ordres. Pourtant, en 1967, l'Académie française lui avait attribué son Grand Prix de poésie. Car Georges Brassens était bien un poète, et l'un des plus grands de son temps. Quand il est mort, le 30 octobre 1981, la langue française a perdu l'un de ses magiciens, et la culture populaire le plus bourru et le plus tendre de ses chantres.

Marcel Duchamp and the Art of Life Jacquelynn Baas, 2019-11-19 A groundbreaking reading of Duchamp's work as informed by Asian esoterism energetic spiritual practices identifying creative energy with the erotic impulse. Considered by many to be the most important artist of the twentieth century, the object of intensive critical scrutiny and extensive theorizing, Marcel Duchamp remains an enigma. He may be the most intellectual artist of all time and yet toward the end of his life he said, "If you wish, my art would be that of living: each second, each breath is a work which is inscribed nowhere, which is neither visual nor cerebral." In Marcel Duchamp and the Art of Life, Jacquelynn Baas offers a groundbreaking new reading of Duchamp, arguing in particular that his work may have been informed by Asian esoterism, energetic spiritual practices that identify creative energy with the erotic impulse. Duchamp drew on a wide range of sources for his art, from science and mathematics to alchemy. Largely overlooked until now, have been Asian spiritual practices including Indo-Tibetan tantra. Baas presents evidence that Duchamp's version of artistic realization was grounded in a Western interpretation of Asian mind training and body energetics designed to transform erotic energy into mental and spiritual liberation. She offers close readings of many Duchamp works, beginning and ending with his final work, the mysterious, shockingly explicit tant donn s 1 la chute d'eau 2 le gaz dclairage. Given 1 The Waterfall 2 The Illuminating Gas. Generously illustrated with many images in color. Marcel Duchamp and the Art of Life speculates that Duchamp viewed art making as part of an esoteric continuum grounded in Eros. It asks us to unlearn what we think we know about both art and life in order to be open to experience. The Black Musketeer Eric Martone, 2011-05-25 Alexandre Dumas, author of The Three Musketeers, The Count of Monte Cristo, and The Man in the Iron Mask, is the most famous French writer of the nineteenth century. In 2002, his remains were transferred to the Panth on, a mausoleum reserved for the greatest French citizens, amidst much national hype during his bicentennial. Contemporary France, struggling with the legacies of colonialism and growing diversity, has transformed Dumas' grandson of a slave from St. Domingue (now Haiti) into a symbol of the colonies and the larger francophone world in an attempt to integrate its immigrants and migrants from its former Caribbean, African, and Asian colonies, to improve race relations, and to promote French globality. Such a reconception of Dumas has made him a major figure in debates on French identity and colonial history. Ten years after Dumas' interment in the Panth on, the time is ripe to re-evaluate Dumas within this context of being a representative of la Francophonie. The French re-evaluation of Dumas therefore invites a reassessment of his life, works, legacy, and previous scholarship. This interdisciplinary collection is the first major work to take up this task. It is unique for being the first scholarly work to bring Dumas into the center of debates about French identity and France's relations with its former colonies. For the purposes of this collection, to analyze Dumas in a francophone context means to explore Dumas as a symbol of a French culture shaped by and inclusive of its former colonies and current overseas departments. The seven entries in this collection focus on providing new ways of interpreting The Three Musketeers, The Man in the Iron Mask.

The Count of Monte Cristo and Georges are categorized into two broad groups The first group focuses on Dumas's relationship with the francophone colonial world during his lifetime which was characterized by the slave trade and provides a postcolonial re-examination of his work which was impacted profoundly by his status as an individual of black colonial descent in metropolitan France The second part of this collection which is centered broadly around Dumas's francophone legacy examines the way he has been remembered in the larger French speaking postcolonial world which includes metropolitan France in the past century to explore questions about French identity in an emerging global age
